Candler Jones Is Convicted, Given Term of 1 to 3 Years

RALPH McGILL

What Are the Alternatives?

There is a story about an old man who was asked if he did not dislike the idea of growing old. "I do," he said, "until I consider the alternative."

This will serve as a sort of text for this quiet little essay on the subject of alternatives.

Five years ago this month the United States Supreme Court handed down its historic school decision. It is a continuing rebuke to the media of information and to those who comment on the news, either by the spoken or printed word, that a better job was not done in interpreting it.

The court did not hand down a unanimous decision ordering integration. It was a negative, not a positive decision. It said that discrimination could not be exercised in the admission policies of the public schools. Because of this failure in communication an emotional wall of misunderstanding quickly was built in the minds of millions. Fear was the mortar which held its stones. Fear was the buttresses of it and fear was the watch towers of it.

The court ordered an end to discrimination. It left to the states and to the district courts the implementation of the ruling. The court went out of its way to state that it knew time would be required, and patience.

School Placement

Three years later the Court rendered a decision in the Alabama school placement law which gave to the states more control of the school than they had ever before known. The court ruled that a school board could go into the scholastic background of school applicants and into the moral background as well.

In this same decision the Court declared that in those areas where there was a large proportion of Negro population it was not the intent of the decision to have schools take in large numbers of these.

The effect of the decisions was to give to the school boards powers unknown in previous years. It provided an effective control of the desegregation process.

One of the troubles was that whoever tried to communicate the truth and an understanding of the facts was assailed as "an integrationist" or, even, a Communist. This was slung at one and all, ministers, laymen, editors, columnists, commentators. Merely to defend the processes of law was to invite smears and vilification. They were accused, unreasonably and falsely, of trying to "ram the court down the throat" of those opposed.

But what was necessary five years ago is even more necessary today. That is to make clear the alternatives.

Closed Schools

It is precisely this which the Deep South states are up against today. Little Rock, for example, after having been up against the alternatives for almost two years, is moving away from the alternative of the closed schools.

But the alternative may be accepted. Some states may prefer to close down public education and keep it so. If they do so choose they may. It is almost impossible to believe that is what the people prefer, but in four or five states, only time will tell.

No honest person can fail to emphasize the fact of the alternative. Those who are engaged in presenting the alternative have no direct personal interest in whether parents who prefer the alternative of closed schools educate their children or not. They most emphatically are completely uninterested in trying to ram anything down any throat. This is a free country. A person may swallow what he likes, lies or truth, public schools or no public schools.

That the burden is a grievous one, and to many harsh and unreasonable, is true.

But to point out the alternative is not at all to argue for integration or to have such a policy.

The people have a right to understand and to comprehend what is at stake. As Sen. Herman Talmadge of Georgia recently told his constituents, the Supreme Court decision is an accomplished fact. It will not be reversed. The processes of law may be slow. But, in time, they must be faced and a choice made between law or the alternative. That is the fact of five years after 1954.

Cook Orders Count Of Seized Records

By BRUCE GALPHIN

The cloud over Paul Cadenhead's status with the Fulton solicitor's office apparently casts a shadow also on state documents subpoenaed by the special solicitor.

State agency heads were directed in a form letter from Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook Friday to report by Monday all records of their departments which are now being held by the Fulton solicitor's office.

Cook said he would issue a directive in the matter of state records next week. Until that time, he declined to say just why he requested the information.

LEGAL QUESTION RAISED

However, it is believed that the legal question raised during the Candler Jones trial about Cadenhead's status is behind the move.

Jones' attorneys contended that Cadenhead was not a duly authorized agent of the solicitor's office.

Sol. Gen. Paul Webb challenged the point, but he was concerned enough over it to announce he will seek to re-indict persons already indicted in the current probe of state government.

Cook wrote agency heads that "you are required by law to honor a subpoena duces tecum served on you by a legally constituted officer of the court."

WARNS AGENCIES

But the attorney general warned: "I have consistently advised all department heads and agencies that they are personally liable for the loss, destruction or alteration of any official documents in possession of their respective deparments and agencies."

It is not known whether Cook

State Asks To Aid Tax Evaluation

State participation in local property tax assessments was proposed Friday by the head of the property tax division of the State Revenue department.

C. G. Campbell made the suggestion in a statement to a House committee created to study inequities in the property tax load.

The committee, headed by Rep. Arthur K. Bolton of Spalding County, decided at its organizational meeting Thursday to restrict its study to the ad valorem tax on real and personal property and how property is assessed in the various counties.

CITES INEQUITIES

Campbell, whose duties include approval of county tax digests, cited to the committee numerous inequities existing between counties and even on various classes of property within individual counties.

He said that in one county the percentage of value at which property is assessed ranges from two to 100 per cent on different types. He also noted that one South Georgia county, where land sells from $100 to $125 an acre, assesses all land $2.37 an acre while in a mountain county where the average price is $40, the assessment is $24 an acre.

SUGGESTS CHANGES

Campbell made a number of recommendations including one that the state pay part of the salary of local assessors. He also suggested several changes to bring about more uniformity in the methods of assessors.

And he proposed that personnel engaged in tax assessment be put under the merit system "because otherwise politicians will run them off if they do a good job."

Clouds on Way For Weekend In the Low 70s

A mild weekend accompanied by partly cloudy skies is forecast for Atlanta and north Georgia, the weatherman says.

Extremes of 46 and 75 are predicted for Saturday with Sunday extremes of 50 and 78. Friday's extremes in Atlanta were 47 and 69.

Dulles Takes A Turn for The Worse

WASHINGTON (AP)—The condition of former Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has worsened, the State Department said Friday.

Dulles, suffering from cancer, developed last weekend what was described as a mild case of pneumonia.

The State Department press officer, Lincoln White, reported late Friday: "Mr. Dulles' pneumonia has not completely resolved. There has been some further decline in his general condition."

The 71-year-old former Cabinet officer is in Walter Reed Army Hospital.

Soviets Turn Down West's Peace Plan

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

GENEVA (UPI)—Russia Friday rebuffed the Western peace plan for a united Germany and proposed a one-sided treaty that would keep East Germany out of NATO and give the Soviets what they want in Berlin.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was reported "keenly disappointed" by the proposal made at the Geneva foreign ministers conference after apparently hurried conversations between Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Gromyko slapped down Western hopes for an early compromise on the Berlin and German crisis by trotting out the Soviet draft peace treaty originally unveiled last Jan. 10 and rejected by the West at the time.

The Soviet Foreign minister brushed off the Western plan of step-by-step reunification of Berlin and Germany in a 45-minute speech at the fifth conference session in the Palais des Nations.

The Western plan, unveiled Thursday, is "based on deliberate ignoring of the real situation in Germany, on whose territory there have long been two independent sovereign states," Gromyko said.

A U.S. delegation spokesman said Gromyko had offered "nothing new nor constructive" despite six months of preliminary nego-

Defense Will Seek New Trial

Jury Deliberates For an Hour

By RICHARD ASHWORTH

A jury Friday convicted tractor dealer H. Candler Jones of the offense of embracery after one hour's deliberation and set his sentence at one to three years in prison.

The Fulton Superior Court jury earlier heard Jones contend he was "entrapped" into offering the money April 10 to then Grand Jury Foreman Edward W. Westlake at a time when the jury was considering an indictment against him.

Judge E. E. Andrews said he would complete the sentencing of Jones at 9:30 a.m. Monday.

The judge explained that one of the defense attorneys, John Westmoreland, had to leave court early because of out-of-town guests arriving, and that he had promised him he could be present when sentencing was completed.

WEBB'S REACTION

Sol. Gen. Paul Webb termed the jury's sentence "a little light." The state had asked for a term of four to four years, the maximum allowed for the offense by law.

Defense attorney William Hall said a motion for a new trial would "unquestionably" be filed.

Before the case went to the jury, Hall lost a move to obtain a directed acquittal verdict on the ground that Jones had been entrapped, and on the further ground that the offense was actually an attempt to bribe Webb through the jury foreman.

"WASN'T MYSELF"

Jones told the jury, "I'm not guilty of this if there's such a law as entrapment. If anyone has ever been entrapped, I sure was."

The dapper, gray-haired busi-

Will Georgia's Advisory Committee on Mental Institutions be "an organization of authority and strength" as recommended by the medical committee that investigated Milledgeville State Hospital? Will it be the "ruling factor" of the state's new mental health program, as urged by Dr. W. Bruce Shaefer, chairman of the Medical Association of Georgia committee that investigated the hospital? Jack Nelson, Constitution staff writer, explores these questions in an article that includes interviews with Gov. Vandiver and Dr. William Rottersman, Atlanta psychiatrist who was a key figure in the Kansas mental health reform.

Outlawed Slums Are Growing Alarmingly in Modern Atlanta

Atlanta slums are supposed to be unlawful; yet they are multiplying like the rats that infest them. Ed Hughes, Journal staff writer, begins a penetrating series on how the law is being broken in thousands of decaying hovels of filth and misery throughout the city. The series will continue daily in The Journal.

Prosperity Smiling on Georgia, Business Editor Finds on Tour

Indications are that Georgia's economic recovery has spread throughout the state, even though farming—except for peaches—met with some early reverses. Jim Montgomery, Constitution business editor, begins an important new series on statewide economic conditions and the outlook for the future. It will continue daily in The Constitution.

What Is Revealed by Hearings On Talmadge's Amendment

Sen. Talmadge recently proposed an amendment to the federal Constitution to put schools under exclusive local control. After weeklong hearings on the amendment, opinions on Capitol Hill are divided. Crash Kills Woman, 74, In DeKalb

One person was killed and two others seriously injured late Friday in the collision of two automobiles at the intersection of The Byway and Oakdale Road, DeKalb County police said.

Mrs. J. Reid Abram, 74, of 1339 Chalmette Dr., was killed in the crash, Patrolman H. M. Lallerstedt and E. J. Mitchell said.

Mrs. Abram's daughter, Mrs. Frances Hudson, 43, also of 1339 Chalmette Dr., was reported in critical condition at Emory University Hospital with head and internal injuries.

G. Dudley Gravette, 48, of 1903 Ridgewood Dr., was reported in serious condition at Emory with head and chest injuries.

Patrolmen said Mrs. Hudson and her mother apparently were thrown out of the car they occupied.

Details of the crash could not be obtained immediately since none of the injured could be questioned and no witnesses could be located.

Gravette was alone in the car he occupied, officers said.

The cars knocked down small trees and ripped up hedges, patrolmen related. They said both cars stopped near the top of an embankment.

GI Prevents $33,600 Theft

LONDON (UPI)—U. S. Army officials Friday credited M-Sgt. Frank O'Neal, 63, of Boston, with preventing the theft of $33,600 from two messengers. O'Neal hit one of the holdup men with a pair of handcuffs and forced him to drop the money bag before fleeing. The money was being delivered by American Express messengers.

Mental Health a Vital Issue, Says House Speaker Smith

By JACK NELSON

Rep. George L. Smith II of Emanuel County, speaker of the House of Representatives, said Friday that Gov. Vandiver's mental health program will be a major subject of the 1960 General Assembly.

Smith said that he will appoint a Mental Health Committee of five or seven members to work with a Senate counterpart in formulating mental health legislation. The Senate already has a mental health sub-committee.

Smith said both legislative committees would coordinate their efforts with the 12-man Advisory Committee on Mental Institutions.

Legislation for the mental health program will include provisions for implementing recommendations of the medical committee that investigated Milledgeville State Hospital.

Smith said he expects the two legislative committees and the advisory committee to develop "a good, coordinated program of legislation."

Meanwhile, nominations for members of the advisory committee were transmitted Friday to Gov. Vandiver by Dr. T. F. Sellers, director of the State Health Department.

Gov. Vandiver said he would study the list of nominees and make the appointments next week.

Members of the Medical Association of Georgia committee that investigated Milledgeville State Hospital have emphasized the committee is a major factor in the new mental health program it recommends for Georgia.

Nominations for members of the committee were made by the MAG, the Georgia Psychiatric Assn., the Georgia Association for Mental Health, the Georgia Bar Assn., the Georgia Academy of General Practice and the Georgia State Chamber of Commerce. In addition, the governor will appoint one prominent businessman from the state at large and ex-officio members will be the heads of the Department of Psychiatry at Emory University and the Medical College of Georgia.

GOP's Scott Sees Nixon as Nominee

A Republican who knows national party politics from the inside predicted here Friday night that Vice President Nixon will be the next Republican Presidential candidate.

"It is almost certain he (Nixon) will be acclaimed on the first ballot," said Pennsylvania's Sen. Hugh Scott, only Republican survivor of last November's Democratic senatorial sweep into Congress.

Sen. Scott, a former national chairman of the Republican Party who led the Eisenhower-for-President boom, is in Atlanta to address Georgia Republicans at a $25-a-plate dinner at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Dinkler Plaza.

"It's good to breath fresh air again," Sen. Scott quipped upon landing Friday night at Atlanta Airport from Washington where he has been attending the turbulent prolonged Senate hearings, concluded Thursday, on Lewis L. Strauss' nomination for secretary of commerce.

Sen. and Mrs. Scott were greeted at the airport by William B. Schartzer, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, and Robert R. Snod-

A Grateful Godfrey Leaves Hospital, Tells of Escape from Cancer Death

By ROBERT FARRINGTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur Godfrey left the hospital Friday, a weak, trembling man, movingly grateful to be alive. He broke down as he told how very narrowly he escaped death from a spreading lung cancer.

"The surgeon would have been perfectly within his rights in sewing me up and saying, 'I can't do a thing'," Godfrey told an impromptu press conference at Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center. His lips trembled and he dabbed at his eyes with a handkerchief.

The 55-year-old television and radio entertainer said the cancer not only had invaded his left lung but had wrapped around the aorta, the main artery to the heart.

VOICE BREAKS

His voice broke as he told newsmen: "But I got a break—he got it out, under circumstances so trying that one slip one way or the other and I wouldn't be here talking to you. I'm grateful for it and I'll do my damndest to deserve it."

Godfrey underwent a five-hour operation April 30 for removal of a part of his cancerous left lung.

There is no immediate way of knowing whether the cancer spread. If it didn't, medical practice still regards a five-year period of freedom from symptoms before claiming a complete cure.

He'll rest for a time at home here and later go to his Virginia farm.

His return to television—on any regular basis, at least—appeared many weeks away. Presumably, he'll try to get back by Oct. 5, his 30th anniversary on the air.

About two months ago, Godfrey complained of a pain akin to indigestion. X-rays disclosed a tumor in the lung. He entered the hospital April 27, referring to his cancer-suspect tumor as "this horrible, skulking thing."

Then he was robust, ruddy, acknowledging only a normal fear of the eventual outcome of his operation.

As he came out of the hospital, he leaned on a cane. He appeared weary and unsteady, although he managed a grin as he slumped into a chair. His color was good and his face was not drawn.

Aides tried to shield him from newsmen but Godfrey raised a protesting hand and told them: "No. Wait a minute. I've got to tell them this."

He bowed his head for a moment, as though to collect his thoughts. Then he told of the seriousness of his operation.

"Just like I told you when I came in, I feel fine. When I came in, physically I felt better than I had in years and I think except for the fact of overweight, I looked better. I told you that deep down inside was this—"

Godfrey put a finger to his chest, then for a moment he broke down again.

"Why I want to talk to you, you will take to the people the message from me which may be of help to others," he said.

ADMITS FEAR

"Inside I was afraid. The reason I was afraid, I didn't know. Like all aviators I'm not afraid of what I know about. Every time a flier pushes the throttle to the wall, he knows it might be the last time.

"He takes what we call a calculated risk. He's checked the engine, the airplane, and done verything he can to make sure of his weather and flying conditions.

HE'S THANKFUL

"That's why we take off and land without qualms.

"When you come to something like this, when in apparent excellent health an X-ray shows a shadow on the lung and the doctor says 'I don't know what it is, let's go in and take a look at it'—"

Summing up, and paying heartfelt tribute to the doctors, nurses and hospital personnel, Godfrey said: "Thank God we live in a world like this."

Output A Record For U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government said Friday that production hit an all-time high in April.

The Federal Reserve Board's index of industrial production moved up two points to 149 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

"Activity in the durable goods industries rose substantially," the board said.

This compared with a peak of 146 in February 1957 and with a recession low of 126 in April 1958.

ACTIVITY INCREASES

"Economic activity continued to increase in April. Industrial production rose further and housing starts remained at an exceptionally high level," the board summed up April's developments.

"Gains in employment were widespread and a decrease in unemployment was considerably more than seasonal. Consumer incomes and buying were at record levels."

The board said production of soft goods also increased last month, but minerals output was little changed.

STEEL EDGES UP

Building materials production was at a record level, and steel output bucked seasonal trends to rise slightly.

The board said there were significant gains in industrial machinery and motor trucks during the month and that autos, television, furniture and other consumer durables also advanced.

Textiles and paper and chemical products also continued to expand in April but work stoppages cut back output of rubber products.

Steel Negotiators Get Down to Cases

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel wage talks that could have a strong bearing on the nation's economy got down to bedrock issues Friday.

"We're really in basic discussions now," said David J. McDonald, United Steelworkers president, after a two-hour bargaining session between four-man management and union teams.

R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, said the teams had "good exploratory discussions."

But as the talks recessed until Tuesday, neither would elaborate on what was discussed.

The union announced at the beginning of the talks May 5 that it would seek substantial wage increases and shorter working hours among other proposals.

Failure to reach an agreement by June 30 when the present three-year contract expires could lead to a strike by half a million steelworkers and cut off 90 per cent of the nation's steel production.

President Eisenhower has counseled against any settlement that would spur inflation through steel price increases. The industry has proposed a one-year freeze on wages and other benefits to hold the line against inflation. The union contends wages could be increased without increasing prices.

McDonald will attend an AFL-CIO Executive Council meeting Monday in Washington. He said he probably will report there on how the negotiations are progressing.

In an action separate from the wage talks, the union and seven major steel companies signed an agreement under which almost 15 million dollars in supplementary unemployment benefits will be paid to union members in Ohio.

McDonald said the payments had been made possible by Ohio state legislation, after having been denied previously by the state administrator of unemployment compensation.

The payments, held in escrow meanwhile, will compensate for layoffs since Sept. 8, 1957.

Companies signing the agreement were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Jones & Laughlin, Inland, Youngstown Sheet & Tube and Wheeling Steel.

Halt Foreign Aid, Sen. Mansfield Asks

By WILLIAM THEIS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield called Friday for a halt to all economic and military aid grants within three years to end waste and corruption and head off a public revolt against the whole aid idea.

Outright grants, described as "give-aways" by critics of the program, account for about 75 per cent of the $3,900,000,000 in new foreign aid funds requested by President Eisenhower for the next fiscal year starting July 1.

Mansfield, a key member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in a Senate speech that any foreign aid needs still existing after the three-year period should be met through repayable loans.

WOULD ABOLISH ICA

The Montana Democrat also disclosed he will offer amendments to abolish the International Cooperation Administration, which now administers the aid program, and end what Mansfield called the current secrecy on military aid outlays.

Mansfield said Congress either must come to grips with a "thorough-going reform" of the aid program this session or face a possible "tide of public reaction so strong that it will swamp the entire undertaking."

"I may be wrong," he said, "but I am persuaded that time is running out on foreign aid."

Mansfield said outright grants and gifts represent the "areas of decay in foreign aid" and have caused "fissures of corruption," and "areas of great waste and inefficiency."

'BURGEONING HOSTILITY'

Equally serious, he said, they have caused a "burgeoning hostility between the American people who must foot the bill and the peoples of the recipient nations."

Mansfield said he believed recipient nations would "welcome" the new loan approach to foreign aid and would "redouble their own efforts" in the knowledge that the program would end in three years.

The Montana senator also said his proposal would strengthen the Development Loan Fund, which was set up by Congress at the administration's request to make economic development loans to lagging foreign nations.

He said his proposed amendment to the foreign aid bill would transfer ICA personnel and funds to the State Department and put military phases of aid into the Defense Department.

McNab said it was "like an explosion" when his car hit the anvil, which ripped out the transmission and ripped through the gas tank.

House Unit Slaps Ike, Cuts Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower drew a mild rebuke from the House Appropriations Committee Friday. His Agriculture department was accused of violating the law.

In a double-barreled action, the committee cut $142,199,365 from new farm funds for the fiscal year starting July 1 and made a token reduction of $270,000 in appropriations for some agencies operating under the Executive Office of the President.

$10 MILLION FOR IKE

But the committee approved the entire $10,255,500 which Eisenhower asked to run the office of the President, including one million dollars for the President's emergency fund. The committee said this should be used with the utmost restraint.

The cut in agriculture funds leaves the department with $3,939,165,498 to finance its operations during the coming year, assuming the House ratifies the committee's action next week. Written into the money allotments were new restrictions on soil bank programs.

EMERGENCY FUND

The President's emergency fund is one into which he may dip for unforeseen emergencies affecting national defense. The committee said the fund has been used on occasion "to initiate projects, committees and agencies which lend themselves to perpetuation long beyond the defensible pretext of emergency."

For other activities related to the executive office the committee approved $3,083,000.

Red German Ties Ruled Out by U.S.

By WILLIAM J. JORDEN

(Copyright, 1959, by The New York Times Co.)

WASHINGTON—A top State department official said Friday night that the Communist East German government had not been and would not be recognized by the United States because it clearly was "an artificial regime created by the Soviet Union."

He declared that the East Germans taking part now in the Geneva conference of foreign ministers did not represent the aspirations of their own people. He said their allegiance was to communism and the Kremlin and not to the people of East Germany.

He warned that further repression of the people of East Germany might lead to an even greater uprising than that of 1953, when some Germans rebelled against the Communists and were put down forcibly by Soviet tanks and troops.

SPEAKS AT BANQUET

Hugh S. Cumming Jr., director of the State department's bureau of intelligence and research, made his sharp attack on the East German regime and its Communist masters in an address prepared for delivery Friday night at Langley Air Force Base, Virginia. The occasion was a banquet celebrating Armed Forces Day.

There was no doubt that Cumming's strong denunciation of the East German regime was officially approved here. It was read by observers as a move to bolster the Western determination not to recognize that regime.

TALKS OF GENEVA

Speaking of the East Germans at Geneva, Cumming said:

"Of the four principal 'advisers' two are Soviet citizens. Only the fourth has a reasonably German background—but he is manifestly cast in the role of window-dressing and very seldom heard from."

Crosby's Son Must Boost Aid to Child

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dennis Crosby was ordered Friday to pay $350 a month for a child he denies is his. The mother said she has only 80 cents to her name.

The support will continue until a trial is held to determine paternity of the 18-month-old daughter of Marilyn Scott. The child is named Denise.

The 27-year-old divorcee claims that Dennis, 24, son of Bing Crosby, is the father.

He has been paying $300 a month on a voluntary basis but has never admitted paternity. The mother asked $460 a month.

Before Friday's action started, Dennis' attorney filed an answer to Mrs. Scott's paternity suit, formally denying the charge.

Dennis said his income is around $1,200 a month, $900 of which comes from the estate of his mother, the late Dixie Lee. He said his expenses are $1,000 a month, which puts him $100 in the hole after paying $300 support. He said he thought $300 adequate.

British Go-Between Role Worries Paris

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

GENEVA (AP)—Britain's would-be role of conciliator between the West and the Soviet Union is reported to be deeply disturbing French and other diplomats at this foreign ministers' conference.

Considerable mystification is being expressed privately by these officials, who claim to have noted some unusual activities on the part of Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd's delegation.

Some of the Western head-shaking has come to the attention of the British team.

In particular, Lloyd and his advisers have been infuriated by a published report suggesting that Britain and the Soviet Union actually have gone so far as to conclude a secret political and economic deal in the midst of the Berlin crisis.

But British spokesmen refuse to comment on the suggestion. They decline even to acknowledge the existence of any feeling of uneasiness about the nature of their political role here.

It is known that Lloyd himself — after consulting with London — ordered that no comment be offered on the reports.

No Allied diplomat goes so far as to say Britain has acted, is acting, or intends to act, in a way that could expose her to charges of disloyalty.

Nonetheless, an atmosphere of mistrust and concern is building up. In a sense it seems to be a byproduct of a number of circumstantial developments that came in the wake of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's journey to Moscow last February and March.

The picture being circulated covers British moves before and during the current foreign ministers talks.

Before the conference:

1. French officials said "secret but reliable" reports have reached their government that Britain has provisionally promised the Soviet Union a big loan to boost trade. The reports suggested Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, for his part, pledged in Moscow that Communists in the Middle East would lay off British oil interests. The informants stressed these reports are not proven, but they say they regard them as sufficiently disturbing to warrant some sort of check. The British scorn to answer.

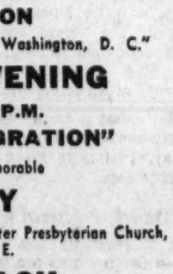
2. West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer asserted to Macmillan in Bonn last March 12 or 13 his journey to Moscow had weakened the Western alliance. He suggested Macmillan could have achieved in two days what he had got from Khrushchev in 10- and reaped the same domestic electoral advantages. And he claimed the day had passed when a British leader could travel to Moscow to talk about Germany's future without the say-so of the German government. Macmillan's rebuttal has not been put into the picture but Adenauer has since declared he has no hostility toward Britain.

During the conference:

3. Lloyd's interventions have been marked by what his colleagues see as an undue softness toward Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and Soviet policies. There is no suggestion that Britain's own policy has changed. But firmer British speeches would be preferred. Lloyd could retort he is just practicing good diplomacy in a flexible fashion.

4. French, and to a lesser extent American, officials profess to be puzzled by what they regard as frequent contact between one or two high British and Soviet officials. They also have detected what they see as a British tendency to concede points to the Soviets — points of procedure that could become points of political substance. The British could argue they were faithfully representing Western interests in keeping the channels of negotiations open.

PICKRICK SAYS



LESTER MADDOX

THERE IS NO DANGER OF OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS CLOSING.

Not one school will ever close in Georgia because of integration—if the parents and other citizens of Georgia want our schools kept open.

IT WILL BE EASY

to keep our schools open. The middle-of-the-roaders, the segregationists and others only have to say: "We want our schools kept open." We are obligated as parents and citizens of Georgia to provide our children with an education and we are duty-bound to protect our children. Each of us should call, write, visit, etc., those public officials moral leaders, etc., who are openly advocating the integration of our schools, and request they stop all public statements, suits, newspaper columns, and other efforts on their part. They must be stopped less they force the integration and closing of our schools.

THERE IS NO

other guarantee of keeping our schools open. The only action that will save our schools and provide our children with a public education is for the mothers and fathers of Georgia to call off the integrators. It can be done—we must do it now.

Weather Hits Hard At Cotton Farmer

Georgia cotton farmers, making a big comeback this year after elimination of the Soil Bank acreage reserve, are being plagued by bad weather.

After some delay in planting from too much rain, dry, cool weather played havoc with stands in much of south Georgia. A Wilcox County grower in the Rochelle vicinity plowed up about half of his 120 acres this week to plant corn because of a bad stand and lateness of the season.

Replanting has been the rule in other areas. In Jackson County around Jefferson in north Georgia farmers complained that they got a lot of bad seed.

Woman Sentenced

A Savannah judge sentenced a woman to either four months in prison or a fine of $100 for hitting a married 13-year-old grammar school student. Judge Columbus Alexander ruled that Mrs. Irene Mendoza Spann was guilty of assault and battery and said the fact that the teen-ager is married "has nothing to do with the case."

Plaintiff in the case was 13-year-old Mrs. Barbara Ann Horne Williams, a sixth grade student in a Savannah school. Mrs. Spann's attorney said that the defendant hit the girl bride in an attempt to "protect her family."

Eye Surgery Succeeds

An 11-day-old girl brought to University Hospital in Philadelphia from Valdosta was operated on for an eye disease Friday. A spokesman said the surgery was a success and that the child's condition is good.

The surgeon was quoted as saying the ultimate result of the operation on little Pamela Peters will not be known for several months.

Columbus Criticized

A Georgia Tech survey team has released a stinging report on the downtown Columbus shopping district — saying it "completely fails to give the impression of a modern progressive metropolitan center."

The Columbus Chamber of Commerce, whose members paid for the survey, said plans are being prepared for a drastic overhauling of the downtown area.

Collision Kills 2

Two Hazlehurst youths were fatally injured Friday in a collision in Lumber City, the State Patrol said.

William Truman (Billy) Pace Jr., 17, of Hazlehurst, was dead on arrival at Telfair County Hospital at McRae. Kenneth Swain Martin died three hours after the crash. The patrol said the car carrying the teen-agers was involved in a collision with a truck and a school bus. Two other teenage boys in the car were hospitalized.

Trade Seen Stimulating Dixie Jobs

Increased foreign trade means more and better jobs for workers in the Southeast, the chairman of the foreign policy committee of the League of Women Voters of Georgia said Friday.

Mrs. Fleming Law said South Atlantic ports are among the fastest growing world trade outlets in the nation with the amount of foreign trade passing through the ports tripling in the past 10 years —a rate double the national average.

"Basic to the vitality of the area is the impact of foreign trade which leaves no factory, farm or household untouched," Mrs. Law said.

"Residents of the six Southeastern states who may never have seen a ship depend daily on the fruits of international commerce."

Mrs. Law said President Eisenhower's proclamation of next week as World Trade Week prompted the league to restate its support of the policy of expanding world trade.

The main reasons for increasing foreign trade, she said, include:

The United States, although relatively self-sufficient in the past, is experiencing increasing shortages of raw materials which are obtainable only through two-way trade.

An American foreign policy to aid nations to develop economically and then refusing to trade with them "is not only inconsistent but dangerous."

Talented 10 Pass Test for Miss Georgia

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP)—The 34 "Let's Pick a Peach" contestants, one of whom will be named Miss Georgia of 1959 Saturday night, paraded before the judges in a preliminary appearance of the annual pageant.

The 10 girls selected as most talented were also announced at the Country Club banquet session. The talent competition was held earlier at the Municipal Auditorium before an audience of about 200.

The 10 talent winners:

Clara Andrews, Miss Douglas; Jill Joiner, Miss Eastman; Norma Jeanne Connell, Miss Perry; Margaret Rose Rodgers, Miss Pierce County; Kayanne Shoffner, Miss Gordon County; Phyllis LouJean Sudderth, Miss Athens; Jerreann Herring, Miss Thomas County; Mary Louise Anderson, Miss Clayton County; Dorothy Kay Moss, Miss Milledgeville; Mary Ann Swan, Miss Atlanta; Martha Janette Rossman, Miss Rome, and Sally Kapers Domingos, Miss Valdosta.

More Budgets To Be Pared, Vandiver Says

Gov. Vandiver said Friday that some state agency budgets for the coming year will be cut back from their presently reduced rate.

He said he has begun examining the annual budgets submitted last month by all state departments.

Most of them "want more money," he remarked.

Vandiver said he will not only cut expanded requests but that in some cases he might pare budgets below the rate of spending for the current quarter.

(A 10 per cent cut in operating expenses which Vandiver ordered when he took office already is in effect.)

The governor did not specify which departments might expect additional cuts.

Have Health, Will Travel, Says Bob Hope

By BETTY CARROLLTON

"Have health, will travel." That's the message Bob Hope would like to have attached to his luggage for future cross-country hops.

During a brief stopover between planes at the Atlanta airport Friday, the famed comedian said he feels "pretty good," but admitted the much-publicized blood clot on his left eye had forced him into "a new way of life."

"It's been hard to slow down," Bob said. "The first couple of weeks after I had this eye trouble, I couldn't do anything but sit around the house. That I did it was a surprise to everyone.

"But it had its compensations," he added. "Such as finding out we have a pretty nice home, and meeting the kids."

His step less jaunty than usual, but his grin just as friendly, the affable jokester said, "People everywhere I go want to know about my health." Declaring he is appreciative of their concern, he added, "I'd like to get a big sign to take along with me—saying 'Have health, will travel'."

The comedian was en route to Washington for a short visit with his teen-age son, Tony, who attends school there.

"I'm going to take all of July and August off for a vacation," he said. "That'll be the longest rest I've had in 25 years."

Birds Swoop Down, Injure Woman, 71

An Atlanta woman Friday told police she was "dive bombed" and injured by two black birds in the back yard of her home.

Mrs. Bessie Kennedy, 71, of 671 Linwood Ave., NW, was treated by a private physician for lacerations on the head, Patrolmen J. S. Douglas and F. M. Bearden said.

Mrs. Kennedy told officers the birds swooped down upon her in the back yard of her home and began pecking her on the head. She said she covered up her eyes and fled back inside.

Air Experts Meet Here On Monday

About 200 aeronautical weight engineers from Canada, England, Mexico and this country will come to Atlanta Monday for a four-day conference at the Henry Grady Hotel.

It will be the national conference of the Society of Aeronautical Weight Engineers. Sessions will be held for engineers engaged in aircraft, missiles and airline work.

L. P. Deubler, conference chairman, said 28 technical papers dealing with problems of reducing weight in aircraft will be delivered.

Dr. Arnold L. Ducoffe, acting dean of Georgia Tech's Guggenheim School of Aeronautical Engineering, will address the conference at a Thursday night banquet on "Today's Weapons and Tomorrow's World."

Hal W. Clements has been promoted to director of the State Department of Education's division of instructional materials and library services, State School Supt. Claude Purcell announced Friday. Clements succeeds Zade Kenimer, who recently resigned to enter private business.

Gray Vets' Sons Ask U.S. Ballot On Segregation

Atlanta's John B. Gordon Camp No. 46, Sons of Confederate Veterans, has started a movement to petition President Eisenhower and Congress to call a national referendum.

The organization resolved to support a petition which calls for the referendum to let citizens decide whether to leave enforcement of segregation and integration to individual states and whether to allow states to punish Communists.

Charles Morgan, camp commander, named a committee of John D. Barrett, chairman, Hayden O. Prior and Stiles Mellichamp to attempt to obtain at least 50,000 signers of the petition in Atlanta, 200,000 signers in Georgia, and to subscribe $100,000 to carry the petition into every county in the nation.

Newspaper Buying To Be Surveyed Here

The U.S. Census Bureau's Atlanta regional office plans to survey newspaper buying habits next week.

Thomas W. McWhirter, Census Bureau field director here, said a cross-section of families will be asked questions about their daily and Sunday newspaper buying habits.

The survey will be made as part of the Census Bureau's monthly current population survey conducted in 330 sample areas throughout the nation.

Police Open 'Get Tough' Traffic Push

The police department's "get-tough" policy toward flagrant traffic violators went into effect Friday despite a protest from the Police Committee chairman that he had not okayed the move.

An order authorizing jail for certain type offenders was published in the department bulletin. Traffic captains explained the order to enforcement officers and urged them to act with prudence.

Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, chairman of the Aldermanic Police Committee, said his group—the policy-making board of the police department—had not been consulted in the matter.

However, Gilliam later stressed that he was not countermanding the order, that he merely wanted it understood the new policy stemmed from the chief of police and not from the committee.

Chief Jenkins said he had not heard from the committee chairman. He said as far as he was concerned the order stood unless it was canceled by action of the committee.

'Missing' Widow Is Found; 2 Boys Lose Sudden Riches

The mystery of the missing widow and the sudden wealth of two small boys was solved Friday.

The story began when a teacher at the J. Allen Couch School discovered a 9-year-old with a pocketfull of money passing out large denomination bills to classmates.

Detectives L. W. Cook and H. G. Mann said they recovered $245. They said the youth told them he found the money and divided it with a 12-year-old brother.

The 12-year-old was found in a locked home on Ethel street, NW, hiding behind a sofa, detectives related. They said he had a small amount of money in his pocket and had hidden the remainder-$400-behind a board in the yard fence.

After questioning the youths, detectives said they recovered a black pocketbook containing a war bond and identification of Mrs. Helen Grace North, 62, of 823 Hemphill Ave., NW.

Residents at the Hemphill avenue address told officers Mrs. North closed up her apartment Thursday and vanished. Police raised and alarma and began a search for Mrs. North.

Mrs. North eventually was located at 49 14th St., NE. She explained that she decided to move to that address Thursday and did so without informing her neighbors.

Mrs. North was quoted that she called a taxicab Thursday on Fifth street, placed a paper sack containing the purse and other items in the cab and then went back inside the store to use the telephone.

Detectives said evidently the driver became tired of waiting, set the sack out on the sidewalk and drove away. The boys came along and found the sack and pocketbook.

The boys were turned over to juvenile authorities.

Detectives said the money—$645 or $145 more than Mrs. North thought she lost—would be returned.

Armed Forces Day: 'Power for Peace'

Today the nation honors its armed forces and in turn the services will be host to the American people whom they protect. Theme again this year is "Power for Peace" and never was it more apt during the 10 years of observances of this special day.

Without a strong posture of strength during the postwar years, the free world long ago would have been engulfed by aggressive communism. Only through massive armaments, the deterrent strength of the Strategic Air Command and superiority in atomic weapons has America been able to keep the peace.

But our past efforts have not ended the threat. The Soviet Union today is spending more on armaments and in maintaining huge trained armies than any nation ever has in peacetime. Russia is devoting more than twice as much of its gross national product to the military than is the United States. As Hanson Baldwin, military editor of the New York Times puts it, Soviet strategy is to be able to fight any kind of war—on land, at sea or in the air—at any time.

There is great worry in this country today that our efforts of the past will not suffice for the future. While we still possess the power to deter war, many military experts say there is grave danger this will not be true within a very few years. Russian scientific progress, their lead in submarines and probably in missiles, their willingness to sacrifice living standards to building more and more armed might means no coasting or relaxing on our part.

If present negotiations lead to relaxation of tensions and to disarmament in the world, the human race will make greater strides than at any time in history. Thus far all attempts have failed. Until such time as they succeed, we must remember, as CIA Chief Allen Dulles said recently:

> "Our defense lies not in compromise but in understanding and firmness, in a strong and ready deterrent military power, in the marshaling of our economic assets with those of the other free countries of the world to meet their methods of economic penetration, and finally in the unmasking of their subversive techniques."

So today we join in honoring our armed forces—our insurance against war and the mighty shield which has enabled our own and other countries throughout the world to remain free.

U.N. Is Proper Place For Summit Meeting

Secretary General of the United Nations Dag Hammarskjold has suggested that the summit meeting be held at the United Nations at New York City.

The United States has approved.

It's a splendid idea. It would give the United Nations added prestige and confidence. It would provide an almost necessary precedent for settling major disputes through the mechanisms of the United Nations.

Holding the summit session there would have a further advantage. It would enable the four powers involved to use the U.N. to carry out whatever settlement may be reached concerning Berlin.

Mr. Hammarskjold reportedly has presented his suggestion to the representatives of all the nations involved. Only the United States has accepted. It is not at all certain the Russians will refuse. Nikita Khrushchev has made no secret of the fact he would like to be invited to this country. Gen. de Gaulle may block it. But there is a chance.

If the United Nations can be employed in this great crisis there will be increased hope for more consistent use of this force for peace in the future.

Hike in Production Is Only a Part of Picture

The necessity of a rising rate of productivity not only to keep this nation strong but to assure survival of the Western world is being accorded deserved attention in sessions of the American Institute of Industrial Engineers here.

Production for the mere sake of quantity output is not the answer. As Carl Kotchian, vice president and general manager of Lockheed's Georgia plant, pointed out: "We must find ways to motivate our entire society. We must be convinced that it is more important and satisfying to produce a quality product or service . . . than to receive a paycheck for the least expenditure of time and effort."

Both management and labor should have such an objective and take steps to attain it. Quantity and quality in production are both important in bringing about a healthier economy. Each is linked with lowering the cost per unit.

The latter factor has become increasingly important as a result of this nation's trade deficit. Although it is not at the danger stage, the rising rate of imports as compared to the export rate has economists worrying about the growing number of instances in which the United States is pricing itself out of the world market.

The outcome of current negotiations between the steel industry and its workers could well mark the turning point as to which path this country will follow in both its domestic economy and in its relationship with the world economy.

Another round of wage increases accompanied by another hike in prices would send the inflationary spiral whipping upward to a most threatening level.

At the moment the conference table at which the steel talks are being conducted ranks second in importance only to the conference table at Geneva.

Our Biggest Bargain: Federal Water Projects

Critics of the federal water projects program who charge "giveaway" and "pork barrel" about funds expended on flood control, navigation and especially about the byproduct of power from these projects somehow forget the benefits from them which have accrued to the nation.

And the astronomical sums you would think have been invested in them are not so great in terms of other government expenditures.

Brig. Gen. J. L. Person, assistant chief of Army Engineers, said Thursday the navigation program is paying off at a rate of $3 in benefits for every $1 invested. Since 1824 the United States has invested about 11 billion dollars in navigation projects and three billion dollars in flood control since 1936.

On flood control, he said, projects in operation since the program started have prevented flood damages of nine billion dollars, three times the cost of the undertakings.

What we've bought under the navigation program, according to Gen. Person, are 22,600 miles of improved inland waterways, the Great Lakes navigation system and more than 400 improved harbors. Traffic over these waterways in 1957 totaled 232 billion ton-miles.

These direct returns outlined by Gen. Person do not include such side benefits as recreation, conservation of land and water resources, a vast acceleration of industrial development and billions added to total national assets.

We agree with Gen. Person. This is a part of the story the public hears too little about. This public investment of 14 billion dollars has been a bargain, indeed.

Traffic Toll Rules Out Delays in Enforcement

The Atlanta Police Dept.'s beefed-up traffic enforcement program is in the nature of an approach toward alleviating an emergency. Such action has been slow enough in coming.

The emergency condition is reflected in cold statistics which show a sharp increase this year in the number of traffic collisions and in the number of persons injured.

Presented by Police Chief Jenkins Thursday at a meeting of a committee of the Atlanta Traffic and Safety Council and approved by the group, the new policy calls for the locking up of persons accused of flagrant traffic violations.

Only the most dangerous violations, such as drag racing, speeding more than 60 miles per hour in the city limits, attempting to outrace an officer, etc., fall into the category.

In view of the fact that the general public sorely needs the protection offered by the new procedures, surely the point raised yesterday by the aldermanic police committee's chairman, Ed Gilliam, should be resolved with dispatch.

The action isn't official, he maintained, until the committee acts upon it. But he made it clear that he saw no reason why the committee should disagree with the policy itself. His concern was with the manner in which it was put into effect.

Such being the case, let's have an immediate session of the group and get on with the program. Loss of lives and destructive property damage don't wait for protocol. Let Ald. Gilliam be so guided.

Official gobbledygook is not confined to our own country. For prize proof of that a correspondent in the Times Weekly Review of London points to this paragraph from the national insurance bill now before Parliament:

"For the purpose of this Part of this Schedule a person over pensionable age, not being an insured persor, shall be treated as an employed person if he would be an insured person were he under pensionable age and would be an employed person were he an insured person."

Atlantan Says To Cut Out the Silly Idea Of Secrecy About Juvenile Delinquents

Atlanta — A hearty "Amen" to J. Edgar Hoover's remarks regarding juvenile delinquency, wherein he says, "We can no longer let 'tender age' make plunder a trifling prank, pass off murder as boyish misdemeanor . . . where felony is committed there is no reason for withholding the name of the youthful offender . . . he should be treated in the same manner as an adult . . . not cruelly, but when they do not measure up to their responsibility of obeying the law they must be made to accept the responsibility for their acts."

Who in this country has more right to speak and be heard on this subject?

Hoover says he sees no need for secrecy; neither do I. Let the careless parents of this generation be shamed into accepting their responsibility and be shamed into better parenthood. It is the only answer to the increasing lawlessness of our youth.

And, please, don't someone come back with the statement that millions of our young people are fine and good. No one knows that better than I. I have worked with young people all my life and I know that the majority of them are good, but Hoover knows what he is talking about when he says, "the terrifying pace of youthful lawlessness" is more serious than the increase in general crime.

Let's cut out this silly idea of keeping the names out of the papers. It isn't protection of the youth — it's protection many times for the proud and careless parents.

He Offers a Principle For Traffic Routers

East Point — Thanks for the editorial, "Public Transit Deserves Highest Traffic Priority." Perhaps it will help secure a further extension of the exclusive traffic lanes for buses during rush hours.

Traffic problems cannot be solved by amateurs. They cannot be dismissed by oversimplification and yet there is a guiding principle that should form the basis for our planning. Briefly stated it is this: Public streets and highways were intended for movement of traffic.

By encouraging the use of the transit system and improving the service we bring more shoppers to the business area.

The 'Good Old Days' Sound Fine to Her

Atlanta—May I express my appreciation to Frank Wells. I most heartily agree with everything he said recently in comparing the modern wife and homemaker with the wife of years ago. The modern wife and mother lives under far greater strain with many more demands on her time from all the various organizations. In addition to all her other duties she is often the family bookkeeper, managing the family finances and trying to make the budget stretch to the impossible in these times of inflation.

Often, in addition to a full schedule at home, she holds a full-time job. Personally, the "good old days" sound fine to me and I'd be glad to give up all our conveniences for a maid and washwoman and cook, as many of our mothers had.

Thanks again to Frank Wells for his words of encouragement!

MRS. H. J. FRICKE.

Atlantan Applauds Cerebral Palsy Clinic

Atlanta—As a member of the staff of the Cerebral Palsy School Clinic for some four years, my association with the children and all those connected with it has been a pleasant one. I have also been a parent of a cerebral palsied child who has now left us to live with her Heavenly Father. I know from personal experience the deep and protective love and the accompanying mental anguish that lives with these parents.

To my mind our lovely school and treatment center fit the needs of both child and parents. We are lucky indeed to have in the city of Atlanta a program for these children where the staff of teachers, doctors, therapists, parents and others are working together and aiming toward improvement of both the mental and physical personality.

The little I have contributed has been a pleasure to me and I can sincerely say that I have been most blessed and inspired by the children and the noble work of this center.

Governor Should Stand By His 'No New Taxes' Pledge

Gov. Ernest Vandiver has again declared he currently has no idea of calling a special "tax session" of the Legislature by denying through Sen. Carl Sanders, of Augusta, a published report that he plans to do so in late June or early July.

The governor reiterated that he is standing by his program to effect every possible governmental economy before even considering any revenue increase.

And this, of course, is a plan for which the governor deserves unrestricted commendation and he will, if he succeeds in averting new taxes, stand out preeminently among the governors of the numerous states now weltering in financial woes.

These governors are acutely aware that taxpayers in general are greatly alarmed at the prospect of higher taxes which, as in Georgia's case, was brought about largely by reckless spending.

Although we are not in any wise advocating a "tax rebellion" in Georgia, we do think it would be well, in view of the governor's determination to avoid new levies, for Georgians to agree not to call for any postponable new services.

Georgia's plight is aggravating, to be sure, yet fortunately it is not as critical as in some other states.

Millen News

The governor is trying to head off an extra session but a quiet survey is now under way in Georgia to ascertain how the senators and representatives feel about the matter. Some state house officials and chief appointees of the governor indicate that an extra session is a must if we are to get roads and maintain same, take care of education and so on.

We can only speak for the News. We are against crookedness in government, any new or old taxes being increased and an extra session during 1959.

That's that!

And the Band Plays On!

Five o'clock in the a.m. is an awful time to rise even for one whose daddy had him plowing in the corn by soon after sunrise. The hour was necessary, though, for one who lives 45 minutes from the airport and must catch the breakfast plane for Greenville, S.C. That's a gentle hint to the airlines that a midmorning schedule would be appreciated. One could drive, of course, but driving is a full-time job and when it's over, all that's been accomplished is transportation.

On the public carrier, one can read and write and otherwise profitably take up the time from point of origin to destination.

Anyhow, I spent the day with former neighbor Louis Seaborn and his fellow Lions in the boom city in the Carolina Piedmont.

ON TOUR: We saw the "new" Furman, a fine school in a mountain setting. We missed seeing Furman promoter Dyar Massey because he was in Atlanta giving attention at Emory to the development post to which he will give full time after the current college year closes.

We saw the pretty homes on Paris Mountain, 500 feet above the level of the city.

We visited pleasantly with editors Wayne Freeman and Bill Gaines, who have a big hand in giving the Greenville area two good newspapers.

SHOWHOUSE: But what I saw and heard of most in G'ville this week was the Memorial Auditorium which will be dedicated today with bugling and band music and a speech by Sen. Strom Thurmond.

The Greenville Lions are especially proud because the fully equipped, air-conditioned auditorium-arena-exhibit hall started with a resolution from the Lions Club 21 years ago. They've worked persistently since, particularly insurance man Ed B. Smith, auditorium chairman.

The showhouse will seat 7,500. It has 23 entrances and 26 exits. Which reminds me of the time a thief broke loose in a place like that. Police guarded every exit, but the miscreant got out through an entrance.

The Greenville auditorium will adapt for performances from stage productions to auto races and circus. Barnum-Bailey already has played there. So has Red Foley.

Piedmont folks, however, are like those in Atlanta and elsewhere. The Duke Glee Club sang to an audience of 500 to 600. A rock 'n' roll road show played to Standing Room Only at $2.

Such public response helps explain why the Voice of Firestone is going off the air after 30 years, but the hillbilly band plays on.

'Others First' Is Wonderful Motto

The motto "Safety First," which surely has a value for our crowded highways and in our gadget-filled homes, is not a proper guide for spiritual living. "Safety First" says that safety must take precedence over other things. To play it safe means that we should watch out for ourselves and for our own security. Don't do anything that might endanger your own welfare and happiness.

This, of course, is not the Christian's primary concern. Rather, he accepts the motto "Others First," which may and often does mean that he will get the short end in any bargain. Christianity says that we should be concerned with the welfare of others whatever happens to us.

Now I submit that this is a baffling and hard teaching for most normal human beings are primarily concerned with themselves. This is the first principle of self-preservation and as such is also the first fundamental of nature. But Christianity is not "natural" in all things. The Christian "unnaturally" wraps his life up in the lives of others rather than being all wrapped up in himself.

"Service First" explains why many a man, in response to Christ's teachings, have surrendered their privilege to a quiet home life in congenial surroundings and gone to the uttermost parts of the world to preach the Gospel. It explains the element of self-sacrifice which is at the heart of all religion which is worthy of a place in our hearts.

The Christian ideal, exemplified in the life of our Lord, is always beyond the easy grasp of nominal Christians. We do not grow mature Christian character overnight. But growth is possible and the ideal is there, personified by Christ, and ever challenging and inviting us.

This ideal of the primacy of service has in a remarkably large number of lives been realized and in millions of other lives has been realized in part.

Of course the ideal of "Service First" may seem far-fetched to the casual observer. Yet in some ways it is the most practical of all endeavors in which we participate. By serving others we strengthen our own convictions. We bolster the forces of faith. We create the climate in which Christian ideals flourish. We extend the bounds wherein we may worship and believe in security and confidence. We cast bread upon the waters and the incoming tides bring blessings we had not reckoned.

All of this is a part of what Jesus meant when He said, "Whosoever would find his life must lose it, and whosoever loseth his life for my sake will find it."

Geneva Skirmishes Were Anticipated

WASHINGTON—The preliminary scuffling at Geneva does not mean very much. The Big Four Foreign Ministers will soon come to the business which brought them together—the fate of Berlin and the future of Germany. Obviously the conference is not getting off to a very good start but these procedural skirmishes were to be expected. They will not necessarily do any harm.

The shape of the furniture (round table vs. square table), whether West Germany and East Germany shall be guests or full participants and whether other other European countries shall take part in the discussions now or when their national interests are directly affected — these are valid, even if minor, issues. The compromises seem sensible.

The fact that the compromises have been reached promptly and without excessive acrimony is all to the good. It suggests that the foreign ministers may quickly begin serious, perhaps fruitful, negotiation.

It is important, I think, to keep our expectations in hand. The divisions of purpose and policy between the Soviet Union and the West are so deep and pervasive and meaningful that no single diplomatic meeting is going to usher in an era of goodwill and peace. It can do no more than arrest an acutely bad trend by reaching one worthwhile agreement which might later lead to another.

Here is how modest would be my estimate:

If there is one good negative decision, that would be a boon; that is, if the Geneva conference averts a blow-up over West Berlin, it will have been worthwhile.

If the foreign ministers can find better and dependable measures, mutually satisfactory, for guaranteeing the freedom of West Berlin, this will be extracting one great tension from the cold war and will be adding a new element of reasonableness.

If the conference does end in more disagreements than when it began, a summit conference will almost certainly be forthcoming.

My own conviction is that the Soviet Union does not wish or intend to end the cold war because it is dedicated to a permanent revolution against free societies everywhere in the world. But it does not wish to press the cold war to the point that it would break into a hot war.

If this premise is correct, it defines the first goal of diplomacy on both sides. That goal is to avoid war without the kind of compromise which is equal to appeasement. This means that the cold war will continue to be pressed by every means short of war and that we will need to bear with the cold war and live with it with stamina and courage and faith in what we believe.

A summit conference does not need to be avoided for fear it will be a failure. It strikes me that tensions may better be kept in control when it is certain that the heads of government will meet periodically to re-examine the possibilities of agreement and to make sure that a kind of war which nobody wants does not come upon us by miscalculation.

Teletypes Clatter Dramatic Events

When news breaks in Geneva, Switzerland, site of the East-West Foreign Ministers Conference, the chances are there will be no necessity to call in extra help from outside. At last count there were approximately 1,200 newspaper, radio, television and newsreel people in Geneva. That averages out to 300 newsmen for each foreign minister, which should be a sufficient number to get the job done.

Each of the principal delegations at Geneva has established procedures for briefing press representatives. Even the East Germans, who aren't sitting at the main table, have their own press office.

Adding to the confusion, and there must be some, is the fact side meetings are held by representatives of West and the East, both within their own camps and across opposing lines. Courtesy calls bring Russians and Westerners in contact after hours and news is made.

Once reporters at the source have their stories, the dispatches come by phone and wireless to the New York offices of the wire services and from there the stories are sped via leased wires to the hundreds of newsrooms across the nation. The teletypes tap away.

Watching a teletype and the product it delivers is often fascinating business, somewhat the type of thing depicted by the films in their jazzed-up glamor versions of the newspaper business. Much of the news coming over the teletypes is of a routine nature. Congress and its progress with housing, gasoline tax, farm and other bills, the fight over presidential nominations. This is good solid news, but it is not unexpected news.

It is the coming over the wires of the sudden, the disastrous, the shocking, the dramatic which brings excitement. This week provides an example. A bulletin out of Charleston, W.Va., tells of an airliner cracking up and burning upon landing. There are no details at first, then as the news is assembled one learns at least two persons are dead, others are in hospitals. The plane was bound for Atlanta.

Hardly had this news come and reporters assigned to run down the local angle when another bulletin hits the teletypes. A second plane has crashed. Less than an hour had passed since the first crash. The second bulletin is out of Maryland. A nonstop plane flying to Atlanta has fallen in pieces from the sky. The plane belongs to the same airline as does the Charleston plane.

The city editor calls our Washington correspondent and asks him to go to the second crash scene, near Baltimore. Once again, reporters are set to work here to trace the local angle, who the passengers were and where they were going.

Pictures come in from the wire services.

Meantime, over in Geneva the 1,200 are busy getting their stuff out.

Reds Scorn Proposal on Germany

Rebuff Sooner Than Expected

tiations with the West one the issues.

The Soviets still were didicated to the proposition that the Western Allies must quit West Berlin and let the city be turned into a free, demilitarized zone—which would be ripe for Communist conquest.

Herter was reported disappointed that the Western peace plan had been so sharply dismissed less than 24 hours after it was made public.

But Western officials maintained hope that Gromyko's virtual rejection, coming so soon, was not a final answer. Khrushchev was reported studying the Western plan.

The Soviet proposal contained a preamble and 48 articles. These were the reported details of it:

—West and East Germany to refrain from force.

—West Germany to quit NATO and East Germany to leave the Communist Warsaw Pact.

—West Berlin to be a free, demilitarized city pending unification of the two Germanies.

—All foreign forces and bases withdrawn from both Germanies within a year of the treaty coming into force.

—The disputed Oder-Neisse line with Poland to be the permanent East German frontier.

The Soviets insist the two Germanies themselves should work out details of reuniting their divided country.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, chairman of Friday's session, said he would study the Soviet proposal, but he challenged Gromyko's attempt to blame present tensions in Germany on the West.

"He referred to the division of Europe into two military camps and to the accumulation of arms," Lloyd said in an off-the-cuff rebuttal to Gromyko. "Well, we have our own views as to where responsibility for that lies."

Assessing the Gromyko offering, U. S. Assistant Secretary of State Andrew Berding told newsmen later that the Soviet Union was trying to perpetuate Germany's division.

"It has presented the same old proposals and Mr. Gromyko's exposition of them has not made them any more palatable than they were on Jan. 10."

Gromyko was believed to have checked with Khrushchev before making his proposal Friday. But he himself was Russia talking, and he sounded like Vyacheslav M. Molotov, his predecessor at so many past conferences on Germany.

He ignored an appeal by Lloyd to consider the West's plan seriously and "not discard it out of hand."

"Any impartial observer," Gromyko declared, "could not fail to recognize that the Soviet government has made maximum efforts to achieve a peace settlement with Germany."

He said the Soviet Union "helped the anti-Fascist" people of East Germany "with the same faithfulness and consistency" with which the Red Army fought Hitler.

Stage Actor Paul Byron Dies at 70; Believed 'Oldest Private' in War II

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Paul Byron, 70, retired actor whose career covered 50 years on the stage and in movies, died Tuesday. Funeral services were held Thursday, followed by cremation.

Byron had lived in suburban El Cajon since his retirement five years ago, after appearing in the New York stage play of "Yes Means No" with Ralph Bellamy.

He had also played roles in other Broadway productions.

Byron served in the Air Force in World War II and, at the age of 54, was reputed the oldest private. He was an Army Medical Corps sergeant in World War I.

Death was due to a heart condition and complications.

Candler Jones Is Convicted; Jury Fixes 1-3 Year Term

nessman told the jury, "I wasn't myself," the day he left $2,500 in a Mitchell street telephone booth as a down payment on a $10,000 payment to Jury Foreman Westlake to halt the jury's probe of Jones' business dealings with the state.

Judge Andrews told the jury the defense of entrapment would not be available to Jones if the jury found "the defendant formed the intent" of influencing Westlake "without it first being suggested" by Sol. Webb or his agents.

However, if the jury felt that the intent was first formed by the solicitor, Special Prosecutor Paul Cadenhead or their agents, and it was suggested to Jones and he acted on that suggestion, Jones should be acquitted, the judge told the jury.

The jury also was charged to consider the laws of conspiracy and accomplices in its deliberations.

NOT INDICTED

Defense attorneys bore down heavily on the fact that James C. Moore, Atlanta insurance man, and David M. Sanders, World War II Army buddy and former business partner of Westlake, contacted Westlake but were not under indictment.

The defense charged at one point that the contact idea "was initiated by Jimmy Moore in an effort to help Candler Jones. There is no evidence that Candler Jones ever initiated this thing at all."

The defense also contended that the entire idea of contacting Westlake—hatched in a motel meeting between Jones, Moore and former State Parks Director J. W. Brinson Jr.—was abandoned after Westlake first vehemently refused it March 11.

If Westlake, acting on the suggestion of Webb and Cadenhead, had not "rekindled" the idea, Jones wouldn't be in court, Attorney Hall argued.

FIRST CONTACT

Cadenhead and Webb contended, however, that the entire offense of embracery was completed when Sanders made the first contact with Westlake on the suggestion of Moore.

"If it was a dead issue, then they certainly exhumed the corpse in a hurry," Cadenhead said, referring to testimony that Jones had asked Moore to have Sanders contact Westlake a second time.

Cadenhead called Jones' acts in the matter "acts of desperation" which were borne out by his final delivery of the money to the telephone booth, and his attempts to "dump it on Jimmy Moore."

When the defense criticized the use of trickery in law enforcement, Webb answered, "If you've got to wear kid gloves, wear a swallow-tailed coat, a Chesterfield hat and act like a Chesterfield in language and in dress, then God help our state."

Webb said Jones was attempting to use the same defense now that Adam used in the Garden of Eden—"I was tempted by the serpent."

CAMERMAN TESTIFIES

Jones took the stand in his own behalf after the state wound up its case with testimony from WSB-TV camerman Joe Fain, who filmed an April 9 meeting between Jones and Westlake and the April 10 money delivery, and after the jury saw the film.

"I'm not proud of the thing I've done," Jones said. "I've acted foolishly, and I'm ashamed of it." He said he acted in this manner because of the pressure brought on him by adverse newspaper publicity, the threat of indictment and illness of his wife.

On the day he delivered the money, Jones said he "had no more intention of going through with this thing than any of you." But he said he acted like a man "hynotized" and went through with it.

Jones said he actually dialed his home telephone twice in the phone booth, trying to reach his wife, but the line was busy. If he could have talked to his wife, she might have talked him out of it and he might not have left the money, he told the jury.

Jones repeatedly declared he had not told anyone to contact Sanders or any member of the grand jury. "I never directed Mr. Moore or anyone else to contact anyone on the grand jury for me," he said.

"If Westlake had not persisted and started that ball rolling, I'm sure I wouldn't be sitting up here today, which I would like not to be," Jones commented.

"As God is my witness," Jones concluded, "I did not ask anyone to approach anyone on the grand jury or offer anyone any money."

will try to get the records back from the Fulton courthouse or whether he is simply guarding against the personal liability state officials would face if the documents were lost.

Cadenhead and special investigators Frank Grimsley and Frank Hester personally served some of the subpoenaes for state records.

If it is established that they were not "legally constituted officers of the court," the state might take the position that it should have the records back.

Asked by a reporter, Webb said that all the subpoenaes were issued in his name. He added that he would "have a judge decide on it" before he yielded any documents.

Ike Taking Brief Trip To Colorado

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will take off early Saturday for a brief trip to Colorado. He plans to be back in Washington Sunday evening.

The White House announced Friday Eisenhower will leave in the presidential airplane Columbine III at 8 a.m. EDT and arrive in Colorado springs at 11 a.m. MST.

He will visit the new Air Force Academy, which will hold its first commencement exercises early next month, and then fly to Denver. There he will rejoin Mrs. Eisenhower, who has been visiting her ailing mother, Mrs. John S. Doud of Denver.

Girl, 19, Hurled From Car by Collision Here

A 19-year-old Atlanta girl was seriously injured late Friday when thrown from a car after a two-car crash at Allene avenue and Elbert street, SW, police said.

Miss Rosamond Smith of 1247 Sells Ave., SW, was admitted to Grady Hospital with internal injuries, patrolman M. H. Medert said.

Medert said Miss Smith was a passenger in a car driven by Dan Paris, 18, of 2126 Meadow Ave., SE. He said that the car, driven south on Allene, was hit by another operated west on Elbert by Robert S. Freeman, 23, Negro, of 483 Chestnut St., SW.

Although held blameless in the crash, Paris was jailed on charges of driving while his license was in revocation, Medert said. Freeman was charged with running a stop sign.

9 Kill Selves Over Election

TOKYO (UPI) — Nine persons committed suicide as a result of the local election last month, police said Friday. Seven killed themselves after being questioned on suspicion of election law violations. Two others committed suicide because they were the only ones in their village not to be questioned and were suspected of being police spies.

Carpenters Walk Off Cape Canaveral Jobs

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—Union carpenters struck at dawn in a wage dispute at this missile test base Friday and nearly 3,000 other workers refused to cross picket lines. But missile operators apparently were not immediately affected.

Pan American World Airways, which supports Cape operations under government contract, assigned supervisory personnel to chores usually performed by maintenance personnel.

Work on 50 million dollars in construction projects, however, was at a standstill. The 150 carpenters involved in the strike were constructing a launching pad for the Army's untested Pershing ballistic missile and facilities for the Titan ICBM.

The Air Force declined to comment on whether missile operations would be affected. But informed sources said the strike would probably not hamper launchings and other tests unless it dragged on for more than a week.

Employes of missile manufacturers remained on the job.

The Air Force estimated that 1,500 building tradesmen and 1,450 members of the Transport Workers Union and the Teamsters Union "failed to report to their jobs."

The Transport Workers and the Teamsters are known as the "housekeepers of the Cape. They are the truck drivers, the cafeteria personnel, repairmen and general handymen of the base.

The carpenters struck after a fruitless last-minute meeting with civilian contractors Thursday. At 5 a.m. union members with crudely-lettered signs showed up at both entrances to the Cape and at access roads to Patrick Air Force Base.

Patrick, located 15 miles south of the Cape, is headquarters of the Air Force missile test center. Some of the carpenters were engaged in building projects there also.

Federal Mediator John L. Kenney of Tampa, who presided over three weeks of negotiations between the carpenters and the Associated General Contractors resentatives of both groups Fri- (AGC), met separately with repday. But he said he had nothing to report.

Pentagon Shifts, Backs Atom Plane

By JACK RAYMOND
(Copyright, 1959, by The New York Times Co.)

WASHINGTON — Prospcts for speedier U.S. development of a nuclear-powered airplane brightened Friday.

The Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission, reversing an earlier position, have agreed to recommend the development of a prototype aircraft, authorities reported.

The recommendation is due to be forwarded to the White House within a week. President Eisenhower has rejected past proposals for the plane, but it was believed Friday that he would favor the new plan.

However, sources in the committee of presidential scientific advisers, headed by Dr. James R. Killian, indicate they had not changed their position of opposition.

Lieutenant Gen. Roscoe Wilson, Air Force deputy chief of staff for development, said that if the money is made available "it should not take too many years for the nuclear-powered airplane to be in the air." He said the final technical obstacle had been solved — shielding personnel from radiation. John A. McCone, chairman of the AEC, recently said it would take three or four years as "a reasonable minimum."

There have been reports that the Soviet Union is ahead of the United States in development of a nuclear-powered aircraft. One unconfirmed report that gained wide acceptance last winter until U. S. officials openly belittled it said that the Russians already had flown a nuclear-powered aircraft.

Gen. Wilson disclosed that a new Pentagon plan for the plane had been formulated when he digressed from a prepared speech to the Aviation Writers Association.

"It may interest you to know that Secretary Quarles' last decision was that the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission would appeal to the President to expedite nuclear aircraft development," said Gen. Wilson.

He referred to the late Donald A. Quarles, who was deputy secretary of defense when he died last Friday. Defense officials confirmed after Gen. Wilson made his comment that the decision to push the nuclear plane had been made May 7, the day before Quarles was found dead of a heart attack while asleep at his home.

Gen. Wilson, in response to questions, said that President Eisenhower had not yet given his approval to the proposal. However, the consensus was that Quarles might have had a verbal indication of approval from the White House, in view of the background of disputes over the nuclear-plane project.

The Air Force has pushed its nuclear-powered plane project for 13 years. More than $700,000,000 has been spent on it. But President Eisenhower personally decided against hurried building of the aircraft prototype. He said it would merely divert resources from a practical nuclear warplane to creat more quickly a clumsy stunt craft.

Congress, however, has been consistent in its advocacy of the nuclear-powered plane. The Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy has repeatedly assailed the administration's reluctance to accelerate the project. It has cited its importance as a propaganda element as well as military factor in competition with the Russians.

Wesberry to Seek Baptist Presidency

Friends To Nominate Atlantan At Louisville Next Week

Dr. James P. Wesberry, pastor of the Morningside Baptist Church here, will be nominated for the presidency of the Southern Baptist Convention at the annual meeting in Louisville, Ky., next week.

Plans to offer his name to the approximately 15,000 messengers (delegates) at the Convention were disclosed here Friday by his friends from the Atlanta Baptist Assn.

Dr. William A. Duncan, moderator of the association who said he was speaking only as an individual, report, "Dr. Wesberry's friends have contacted several messengers from other states and the response to his name being placed in nomination is most gratifying."

Others being mentioned for the high post are Dr. Ramsey Pollard, pastor of the Broadway Church in Knoxville who was defeated by Hays two years ago, and Dr. Herschell H. Hobbs, pastor of Oklahoma City First Church.

Brooks Hays, the former Arkansas Democratic congressman who was defeated for re-election on the segregation issue, now heads the Southern Baptist Convention which includes more than 31,000 churches with 9,206,758 members.

Hays is completing his second one-year term and is not eligible for re-election.

Dr. Duncan, who said Wesberry had consented to have his name placed in nomination, declared "we believe Jim Wesberry reflects the conservatism of the majority of the members of the Southern Baptist Convention, while at the same time always working for the forward progress of our denomination."

A native of Columbia, S. C., Wesberry received Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degrees from Mercer University, Macon. He also attended the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville.

Wesberry who has been pastor of the Morningside Baptist Church for 15 years, also has been chairman of the Georgia Literature Commission since it was created by an act of the 1955 Legislature to combat lewd literature on Georgia newsstands.

Before coming to Atlanta, Wesberry served churches in Soperton, Ga., Medford, Mass., and Kingstree and Bamberg, S. C. He is the immediate past president of the Georgia Baptist Convention and has served as president of the Southern Baptist Pastor's Conference, the Atlanta Christian Council and the Atlanta Baptist Ministers' Conference.

The convention opens Tuesday night in Louisville's Freedom Hall, but many Georgians will be attending pre-convention meetings of the Woman's Missionary Union, pastors' conference, religious education association and music conference on Monday and Tuesday.

Dr. Paul McCommon, secretary of the department of church music of the Georgia Baptist Convention, is president of the SBC music conference and will preside at that meeting.

The seating of Canadian Baptists promises to be one of the major controversial issues. Up for final action this year is an amendment to admit Canadian churches to the SBC.

Opposition to this amendment was expressed this week in the Georgia Baptist weekly paper, The Christian Index, by the Rev. William Prigger Jr., pastor of the Atlanta Baptist Tabernacle and former pastor of First Baptist Church in Calgary, Canada.

Currently the Rev. W. Bertram King, former pastor of an Atlanta Baptist church, is serving as a liaison agent between Canadian and Southern Baptists.

Cosmetics Wrong? Not Necessarily

QUESTION: Does it ruin your Christian testimony to wear cosmetics? I read about Jezebel, and I would like to have it explained. —M.H.

ANSWER: Quite often people write me about the use of cosmetics. I have passed it off as irrelevant, inasmuch as I have considered this a personal matter. But so many have asked about it, I have decided to devote a column to my opinion on cosmetics.

Of course, cosmetics cover a wide range of items: perfume, powder, lipstick, rouge, etc. The Bible says: "Man looketh upon the outward appearance, but God looketh upon the heart." So, I think the motive employed in the use of beauty aids would determine whether it is right or wrong. If a woman makes up, as did Jezebel, to entice men in the wrong way, that is wrong.

But if she uses beauty aids in good taste to make herself look neat and respectable, then I see nothing wrong with it. Some time ago a dear washed-out-looking lady asked me if it was wrong to wear make-up. I thought how much nicer she would look with a little color in her cheeks, and a little wave in her hair, and I said: "No, my good lady, I think you could use a little."

Christians should not appear gaudy, nor artificial. But a sensible use of cosmetics, I think, is in good taste. I have known worldly people who don't use it, and committed Christians who do, and the other way around. Whatever we do should be for the glory of God.

OLD TIME RELIGION — Roy Studdard and Mrs. Amma Ward turned the clock back 50 years at Sylvester Baptist Church Friday night. The church sanctuary was lighted by oil lamps, all the men wore overalls and the women wore the long dresses in vogue at the turn of the century. The service concluded a revival led by the Rev. C. C. Buckalew of Birmingham.

VISIT GEORGIA SHRINES, TOO

Travelers Find All the World A Treasure House of Religion

By KAY McLEOD

Become a modern-day crusader to the Holy Land . . . make a pilgrimage to the shrine of your holy patron saint . . . visit missionaries on the foreign fields. . . .

Travel by car, train, bus, plane or ship to Europe, the Middle East, the Orient or near or far in the United States, as your pocketbook and vacation time dictates, and you'll find hundreds of religious shrines and points of interest there for the seeing.

Travel with an organized religious group or set out on your own. Travel around the world (two-months, $2,289) or tour Georgia by car (for as many days as you wish, spending as little or as much as you like).

If you like to stay in your own back yard, a motor tour of the Georgia coast area offers many religious landmarks.

In Savannah and St. Simons, you'll find the two oldest churches in Georgia, Christ Church Savannah and Christ Church St. Simons, both founded by the Wesleys, the Anglican priests who came to Georgia with Oglethorpe and later returned to England to begin the Methodist movement. Also on St. Simons is the South Georgia Methodist Conference grounds, Epworth-by-the-Sea.

From Savannah, travel south on U.S. 17 to old Midway Church, often called Georgia's cradle of liberty, where the first Georgia Puritans founded a church in 1752. Midway gave to Georgia some of its most fiery patriots. Two of Georgia's signers of the Declaration of Independence, Lyman Hall and Button Gwinnett, were Midway men.

MIDWAY FAMOUS

In the old church graveyard stands a monument to Midway's two Revolutionary generals, Stewart and Screven. The little frame church, which is maintained as a shrine today, was built in 1792 after the British burned the earlier one. A museum to house early relics and mementoes dating from 1752 to 1865 is being built adjacent to the church.

If you want to broaden your trip to include other points in the Southeast, travel up around Asheville, N.C., where Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian all will find denominational assembly grounds. Accommodations are available at Junaluska, Ridgecrest or Montreat for weekends, weeks or the full summer. Courses in various areas of church work are offered throughout the summer.

Traveling on up the eastern seaboard, Catholics will want to visit the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, now under construction in Washington, D.C. It will be the largest shrine in North America.

TOUR IN NEW YORK

In New York, a booklet outlining a unique walking tour of Manhattan churches may be obtained from the Chamber of Commerce. High points of the tour include Trinity Episcopal, the parent Episcopal church in America; the Little Church around the Corner, erected in 1848; Marble Collegiate Church, Norman Vincent Peale's congregation; St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Cathedral, where all deceased archbishops of New York are buried, and the Episcopal Cathedral of St. John the Divine, begun in 1880 and still under construction, and destined to be the largest Gothic Cathedral in the world.

Traveling farther than New York, best bet—unless you have more than the conventional "two weeks with" — would probably be an air tour with an organized group.

Typical tours on this continent will take you to the Shrine of St. Anne De Beaupre near Quebec and other points in eastern Canada (nine days, $199.50 plus air fare to Chicago); Mexico, featuring a visit to the Shrine of Guadalupe at Mexico City (15 days, $267.40 plus air fare).

A number of people annually visit the mission fields. Arrangements for these trips should be made by contacting denominational missionaries.

Now, for a flier across the Atlantic. Several travel agencies offer pilgrimages to the Holy Land with stopovers in Egypt, Lebanon, Jordan, Syria, Turkey, Greece, the Aegean Islands and points in Europe ($1,500 from New York, about one month, longer by boat).

No European trip would be complete, without a visit to Rome and the Vatican. Audiences with the Pope can be arranged for both Catholics and Protestants through the North American College in Rome. It's best to take along a letter of introduction from a local priest or bishop. Wednesday currently is the day for audiences.

Methodists can visit the hometown of Charles and John Wesley in England and then go on to Brussels, Paris, Rome and Amsterdam. ($995 from New York, 23 days).

On some of these tours, you may leave the main party for a visit to other countries at extra costs. You can even go behind the Iron Curtain, but must make plans about a month-and-a-half before departure from this country.

And you can't just go awandering around in Russia. If you want to visit a Baptist College in Moscow (it won't be on the official itinerary), arrangements should be made well in advance. Your travel agent can make a request through Intourist (the official Soviet travel agency), and special permission may be granted.

Just take your pick, every place in the world offers its share of religious points of interest. In some places you won't understand the language or the form of worship, but it'll be an experience you'll never forget.

Thomas Kiwanis To Honor Courageous Legless Pastor

A veteran Georgia Baptist pastor and educator will be honored Sunday by the Thomas County Kiwanis Club.

He is the Rev. J. Gorham Garrison of Ochlochnee, father of Dr. Searcy S. Garrison, executive-secretary of the Georgia Baptist Convention.

The Kiwanians will attend Sunday morning services at the Rev. Mr. Garrison's church, Midway Baptist, between Meigs and Ochlochnee.

Although the Rev. Mr. Garrison is the victim of an illness which has cost him both legs, he continues to maintain a heavy church and school schedule.

The Rev. Mr. Garrison is past president of the Georgia Education Assn., served as Southwest Georgia area school supervisor for the State Department of Education, and is pastor of the Midway church.

He was ordained to the Baptist ministry at Ochlochnee, and served as pastor of that church for 27 years.

He was active in the setting-up of the Minimum Foundation of Education program.

In 1949, Mercer University, Macon, honored him with the Algernon Sidney Sullivan award for very outstanding service. In 1958, then Gov. Griffin honored him for 45 years of service to Georgia education.

Following his first operation, he used a crutch for a brief period of time, and then discarded it. A friend asked why, and his reply was: "It gets in my way, and I can't work with it."

The Preakness System

Any unreliable tout will confess that handicapping horses is indeed an uncertain profession. An unsound horse, a contented jockey, slow break, a bump here and there and countless other factors erase hours of racing math in a single second.

So it's easy to understand why most horse players and horses die broke. Any system which turns up six winners in ten races is colossal, stupendous and unusual.

Outlar

For the last decade, however, the Preakness has been the easiest race in the country to handicap. Employing a very simple system, you would have cashed a winning ticket for four straight years, six out of ten.

Since they're running the 83rd Preakness at the Pimlico track and on TV sets across the nation Saturday, I'll cut you in on this simple method of selecting the winner. All you do is pick the horse which ran second in the Kentucky Derby.

Sword Dancer, as Willie Boland will testify, is the horse which finished second by the margin of a "Shoe" in Louisville. Track handicappers didn't employ our system, but Sword Dancer is the morning line favorite at 7-5. The fact that Willie Shoemaker is in the saddle partially explains the odds.

Sword Dancer won't be bumped by Tomy Lee at Pimlico, which should also enhance the Brookmeade colt's chances. Tomy Lee wasn't opposed to a rematch of the Derby thriller, but owner Fred Turner, who doesn't need the money and doesn't care for prestige, nixed the duel.

After three races in three weeks in Kentucky, Turner didn't think Tomy Lee was up to another outing, so he returned to Texas and shipped the colt to California. The man has a roomful of roses and no yen for black-eyed susans.

—First Landing Always in the Chips

Boland, still cursing Shoemaker and ill luck in the Derby, also shipped to Callfornia, but for a different reason. Brookmeade Trainer Elliott Burch, who didn't learn how to train horses at Yale, was able to get the jockey he originally wanted for the Derby. The jockey, of course, is Willie Shoemaker. It has been mentioned a few thousand times that turf authorities are convinced that Willie the Shoe would have won the Derby on either Tomy Lee or Sword Dancer.

With Tomy Lee hundreds of miles away, First Landing is the horse expected to be closest to Sword Dancer at the wire late Saturday afternoon. Eddie Arcaro, winner of six Preakness purses, will again pilot First Landing.

Since 1945 Arcaro mounts have collected almost one of every three dollars in the Preakness jackpot. And First Landing also has a habit of finishing in the dough. In fact, the Cherney colt hasn't been out of the money in 18 races.

"He's unpredictable in a way," trainer Casey Hayes said in Louisville, "but he's never run a bad race. You can't complain about a colt which has never finished worse than third."

Arcaro, who has ridden First Landing in all 18 races, hasn't been enthusiastic about the colt this year. He said before the Derby that First Landing was a "good" horse, certainly not great.

First Landing had plenty of racing room in the Derby stretch, but Arcaro said the horse hung. Hayes thinks a slow break canceled the winning chances at Louisville, but he thought First Landing ran a good race to finish third.

—Got the Horse Right Here: Sword Dancer

Reggie Cornell, who entertained at Pimlico last year with Silky Sullivan—before the race—is back for an encore with a horse which can run. Royal Orbit, never worse than third in 15 races before the fourth-place finish at Louisville, won the Preakness tune-up this week. With Willie Harmatz in the saddle, Royal Orbit, listed at 4-1, could be the surprise winner, but he's more apt to finish third.

Other Derby entries in the Pimlico field include Rico Tesio, Open View, Dunce, Festival King and Our Dad. And it's no surprise to anyone that Pete Anderson won't be aboard Our Dad in the Preakness.

Hirsch Jacobs' strong stretch-runner drew considerable support in the Derby and loped in 15th. After the race Anderson remarked that he'd like to have got off and carried the horse, declaring that the Jacobs' steed simply couldn't run. Jacobs didn't appreciate Anderson's ride or remarks and Nick Shuk will pilot Our Dad, a 20-1 shot.

Manassa Mauler, the $100 longshot who kayoed First Landing in the Wood, wasn't eligible for the Derby, but owner Emil Dolce is shooting for the black-eyed susans.

Sword Dancer, First Landing, Royal Orbit and Manassa Mauler, in that order, are the choices in the Preakness.

There's no guarantee that the "system" will work Saturday. But, as mentioned, it has clicked six times in ten years. Second-place Derby horses finishing first in the Preakness over that span were Capot, Hill Prince, Native Dancer, Hasty Road, Nashua and Fabius. Bold Ruler, fourth in the Derby, won in 1957 and Derby winner Tim Tam took it all last year.

SWORD DANCER GOES THROUGH WORKOUTS PRIOR TO PREAKNESS

Exercise Boy George Miller Pilots Favorite in Backstretch At Pimlico

Dancer's Favorite In Preakness Run

First Landing Has Support In $190,000 Pimlico Race

BALTIMORE (AP)—No surprise horses found their way into the entry box for the 83rd Preakness Stakes at Pimlico Saturday afternoon. As expected, 11 owners put up $500 apiece to enter the richest 3-year-old race in history. If 11 start, the gross purse will hit $190,000.

However, as the minutes ticked away toward the 4:45 p.m., EST, posttime, the feeling grew that this famed Maryland classic was going to be a duel between Willie Shoemaker on Sword Dancer and Eddie Arcaro piloting First Landing.

If "The Shoe" fits Sword Dancer, it would be the initial Preakness victory for the 27-year-old Texan. He can make racing history by being the first jockey to win the Kentucky Derby and Preakness in the same year on different horses.

Shoemaker in a never-to-be-forgotten finish, rode Tomy Lee and nosed out Sword Dancer with Bill Boland up in the May 2 Kentucky Derby. Tomy Lee returned to California for a siesta, and trainer Elliott Burch of the Brookmeade Stable engaged Shoemaker for the Preakness. Boland claimed foul against Shoemaker's horse in the Kentucky Derby, but it wasn't allowed.

Arcaro, the master, has been making Preakness history for more than 20 years. He has won six—a record—and has had an uncanny way of finding his way to the Preakness winner's circle after losing out in the Kentucky Derby.

Eight of the horses in the mile and three-sixteenths Preakness, which is a sixteenth shorter than the Kentucky Derby, competed at Louisville. In addition to Sword Dancer and First Landing, they are Mrs. Halina Braunstein's Royal Orbit (Kentucky Derby 4th), The Clairborne Farm's Dunce (7th), the Elkcam Stable's Open View (8th), Anthony Imbesi's Rico Tesio (10th), C. B. Fischbach's Festival King (11th), and Patrice Jacobs' Our Dad (15th). Emil Dolce's Manassa Mauler, Robert Lytle's Sundown 2nd, and L. G. Robinson's Marauder did not run at Louisville.

Each owner must get up an additional $1,000 to start in the race, to be televised and broadcast by CBS from 4:30 to 5 p.m., EST.

Any winner, except Manassa Mauler, would net a record $136,200 purse. The Mauler was a supplementary nominee at $10,000, and his net would be $126,300.

A scrap between Sword Dancer and First Landing could be labeled the Battle of Virginia. Sword Dancer is owned by Mrs. Isable Dodge Sloane, who has her farm at Upperville, Va. First Landing is owned by Christopher T. Chenery, with an estate at Doswell, Va.

Latest odds listed Sword Dancer as a slight 7 to 5 choice over First Landing, quoted at 9 to 5.

Royal Orbit, winner of the Preakness Prep on Monday over Manassa Mauler, is third choice at 4 to 1. Manassa Mauler, who upset First Landing in the Wood Memorial, was 8 to 1.

Miller Delivers Six-Hitter; Atlanta Pitchers Fail Again

By CHARLIE ROBERTS
Constitution Sports Writer

BIRMINGHAM—Bob Miller, one-time $65,000 Detroit bonus boy, paid Birmingham another dividend by taxing the Crackers for their second shutout of the season Friday night.

Atlanta's punch-puny troops, rusty from a four-day layoff, were limited to six hits by the big southpaw and suffered their most humiliatingly lopsided defeat, 17-0.

The ace of Manager Skeeter Newsome's staff threw his "deuce" by the Crackers with some awesome regularity in clutch situations, striking out eight. Such situations were many, for he walked five and stranded 11 Atlantans on the base paths.

But the task of Miller, now

Orioles Edge Tigers, 2-1

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bob Nieman's dramatic ninth inning home run with Bob Boyd on base lifted Baltimore to a 2-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers Friday night.

Nieman's smash over the right field fence nullified what had shaped up to be a brilliant shutout by the Tigers' Don Mossi.

Detroit's only run came in the seventh inning when catcher Lou Berberet homered into the right-field stands.

Billy Loes, who took over from starter Jerry Walker in the seventh, got credit for the win, his third compared to one defeat.

The Orioles gained their second victory in the last six home games, and Jimmy Dykes suffered only his third loss since taking over as manager from Bill Norman. The former Orioles pilot, who was at the helm here in 1954 when big league baseball returned to Baltimore, has guided the Tigers to eight wins.

Pierce Blanks Yanks On Six-Hitter, 6-0

Chisox Streak Now at Seven

NEW YORK (AP)—Little Billy Pierce blanked New York on six singles Friday night as Chicago's second-place White Sox whipped the Yankees 6-0 and stretched their winning streak to seven games, longest of the season in the American League.

It was the third shutout of the season suffered by the Yankees, and the first time they've been blanked by a left-hander in a regular season game since Cleveland's Herb Score did it Aug. 21, 1956.

The White Sox stayed within a half-game of first-place Cleveland, a 4-3 winner at Boston.

Pierce, who has allowed only one run in his last 16 innings, walked but two and struck out seven for his fifth victory against two defeats and second shutout. It was his second success over the seventh-place world champions, who haven't scored against the stubby southpaw in 13 innings.

Yankee starter Whitey Ford was given a quick nudge toward his second defeat in five decisions. The Sox scored once in the first inning and then got rid of the little left-hander, who has been battling a virus, after scoring three runs in the sixth on one of three Yankee errors, a walk, Earl Torgeson's single and a two-run double by Bubba Phillips.

The White Sox, who had nine hits, scored their other two in the eighth against right-hander Jim Coates while matching their longest streak since June, 1956, when they won nine. They also won seven in a row last season.

Pierce, 21-30 lifetime against the Yankees, has won five of his last six decisions against them. He had only two troublesome innings, the seventh and eighth.

Another Duren Doing All Right On the Mound

CAZENOVIA, Wis. (AP) — Ed Duren is showing pretty good signs of following in the footsteps of big brother Ryne, pitcher for the New York Yankees.

Young Ed, at Weston Consolidated High School, this week hurled a two-hitter and struck out 15 in seven innings in a 5-1 victory over Avoca High. Duren had two of his team's five hits, including a bases-loaded single which drove in a pair of runs.

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP)—American amateur golfers staggered Britain's Walker Cup hopes by sweeping to a rare 4-0 lead Friday in the Scotch foursome matches of the international rivalry.

In Scotch foursomes, two men on a team play the same ball, hitting alternate shots. Now the British are faced with the task of winning seven of Saturday's eight singles matches to capture the trophy, and it looks like an impossible assignment.

Only three series before in the 37-year-old series have U. S. teams swept all the four-

COOPER, ANGEL, STEPHENS

Sylvan Lands Three on 3-AAA Diamond Squad

by PAUL ATKINSON

Sylvan's hard-hitting Golden Bears placed three players, second baseman Terry Stephens, third baseman Doug Cooper and outfielder Bobby Angel, on The Constitution's All 3-AAA baseball team.

Champion North Fulton, Murphy, Roosevelt and Northside landed two apiece, while Grady, Southwest and West Fulton claimed one berth apiece. North Fulton is represented by shortstop Woody Woodall and outfielder Jerry (Homer) Martin, both prime candidates for the GHSA's Constitution-sponsored North-South All-Star Game June 5.

All-star Eastern and Western divisions clubs were selected. North Fulton and Murphy, who tied for the eastern title, had four and three players while runnerup Roosevelt also had three. Southwest, Northside and Sylvan had three apiece on the Western division club. All 13 3-AAA teams placed men on the squads.

The all 3-AAA team, picked from the eastern and western division clubs, has 11 .300-plus hitters, including league batting champion Bobby Kirkland, the Northside catcher who swatted at an even .500 clip. Northside outfielder Buddy Milton was a .400-hitter, belting at a .428 pace.

Southwest's Don Shi, a junior left-hander; Murphy's Bobby Dalgleish, a senior lefty; and West Fulton's Larry Rakestraw, a junior right-hander, compiled a 19-4 won-lost hurling report.

Sylvan's Stephens was the lone sophomore to make the elite 14, and though he played mostly shortstop during the '59 season, his extraordinary ability at second in '58 (no errors) prompted putting him back at the keystone to make way for Woodall, the fellow who kept Calvin Hartness' Bulldogs on the move with his bat and glove.

Angel was the real surprise during the season just finished. He came quickly and with a booming bat that knocked across 27 runs in 18 games.

High-Flying Bengal Frosh Eclipses SEC Vaulting Record

Harris Soars To 14' 4¼"

By AL THOMY
Constitution Sports Writer

BATON ROUGE, La.—A husky blond Louisiana State University freshman from Baton Rouge Friday soared to new heights and headlines in the Southeastern Conference track meet here.

Stealing the thunder from the likes of football star sprinter Billy Cannon and do-it-all Ralph Fabian, yearling Joe Harris eclipsed the SEC pole vault record with a jump of 14 feet 4¼ inches.

It was the best leap ever in the Southeastern Conference meet, beating by ¼ inch the effort of Florida freshman Henry Wadsworth in 1958.

Like Cannon a graduate of Baton Rouge prep ranks, Harris just missed by a hairbreadth a try at 14' 7½". His midsection felled the bar as he fell over.

Excepting Harris, the Friday trials and prelims produced nothing of an exciting nature. Auburn giant Richard Crane and Georgia Tech footballer Ed Nutting approached the shot put record with pitches of 53-9¾ and 52-11½, respectively, and promised stronger efforts during Saturday's finals. The present record is 54¼ set by Tech's Fred Berman in 1957.

As expected, LSU placed heavily in the trials, led by the versatile Fabian, who had best times in the 100 and 220 dashes. He was clocked in 9.8 for the 100, 21.3 for the 200.

The Bengals, heavily favored to sweep Saturday's finals, were dealt a heavy blow when Cannon dropped out of the meet because of an injured leg.

Cannon, who pulled a leg muscle three weeks ago, qualified in the shotput after failing in the 100-yard dash, but said he would not compete because he didn't want to aggravate the injury.

Though no one switched from the LSU bandwagon, Auburn picked up support in its duel with Florida for second place. Tommy Waldrip won his heat of the 440 and joined Crane in the winner's circle for the Plainsmen's best showing. But coach Wilbur Hutsell's Tigers displayed good balance with numerous places in the qualifying heats.

Waldrip caught LSP's Carl Seefield at the wire. However, favorite Seefield appeared to let up in the stretch. Waldrip's time was 46.8.

Running as he has never done before, Georgia Tech's Mike Veal picked up a second in the 220 and a fourth in the 440. Veal's time in the 220 was estimated at 21.4, his best reading for this distance.

Tech ace James Brantley failed to qualify for the broad jump but he is expected to pick up points Saturday in his high jumping and hurdling specialties.

Only two Bulldogs survived the qualifying round. Don Soberdash got a fifth in the javelin with a heave of 184-5, far below his best effort. Ed Courtright of Tech was sixth with 184-3.

Georgia's Warren Gray placed fourth in the discus to Auburn's Crane.

Among the freshmen, Tech's Don Gentry, a Miami native, won the javelin and shot put events. His distances were 163-7 and 45-8¾, nothing sensational but both full of future promise.

Some 1,500 watched Friday's trials. Finals on Saturday get under way at 2:30 p.m. (Atlanta time).

'Vinegar' Pickles Phils, 8-2

Crowe, Boyer, White Homer

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Miserly 8-hit pitching by Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, coupled with a lusty 12-hit St. Louis barrage—including three home runs and his own two-run triple—buried Philadelphia 8-2 Friday night.

Solo homers by George Crowe, Ken Boyer and Bill White added icing to the cake as the Cardinals opened a four-game series in which they hope to drop Philadelphia into the National League basement spot the Cards now hold.

Mizell's own muff enabled the Phils to end a 23-inning scoring drought. With one out in the fifth, he dropped George Anderson's pop fly. The next man up struck out but Jim Hearn followed with a walk and Richie Ashburn singled to load the bases. Granny Hamner smashed a double to bat in two unearned runs.

Mizell struck out 10 and walked only one. He retired the last 13 Phils in order.

Perry's Pitching Parries Red Sox

Rookie Reliefer Saves Indians in Ninth, 4-3

BOSTON (AP)—Jim Perry relieved Jim Mudcat Grant in the ninth inning and preserved a 4-3 victory over Boston and Cleveland's half-game lead in the American League.

Grant, the 23-year-old right hander off to a fast start in his sophomore year, was sailing along on a 3-hitter going into the ninth before Frank Malzone looped a single to left and Jackie Jensen lashed his ninth home run.

Perry strode from the bullpen and retired Dick Gernert and Pete Daley on grounders and pinch hitter Bill Renna on a long fly to center as the Indians maintained their edge over the fast-closing Chicago White Sox.

It was the fourth straight setback for the home forces.

Barons Blast Crax Behind Miller, 17-0

5-1 on the Southern Assn. won-lost charts, was ridiculously easy. For pitching, their Achilles' heel all year, failed the Crackers miserably again.

The defending champions belted starter Bobby Hendley and reliefers Corky Valentine and Jack McMahan for 16 blows, including five doubles, a triple and Steve Boros' fifth home run.

It was of no consolation that Hendley held the Barons pretty well in check at the outset and that many of the safe knocks were of flukey or looping, Texas League variety.

Miller, who fired a previous shutout against Shreveport, also joined in the Cracker-killing hitting attack. He whaled both the first and last hit in the Barons' six-hit, seven-run fifth inning that put the Barons on top, 10-0, and Crackers out of contention.

Every Birmingham player except catcher Frank Shell garnered at least one safety as the Barons took up where they left off last year, when they bounced Atlanta in 16 of 22 meetings.

A Rickwood Park crowd of 1,915 (including 461 ladies' night guests) delighted to the fullest in Miller's mastery and the Crackers' continuing misery.

Two of three new Crackers making their debuts accounted for half of Atlanta's hits.

Ray Shearer, who divided time between first base and leftfield, smacked a first-inning single and a leadoff double off the left-field scoreboard on the sixth. Center fielder Bob Talbot singled to center in the seventh.

Al Federoff, who hadn't played an inning at Louisville, played second base, made one error and didn't hit a ball out of the infield.

Hendley, by far the most effective of the three Cracker hill chargers, failed to go the route for the third time in seven starts as his cerdentials were altered to 4-3.

A two-out double by Bob Micelotta and single by Gail Henley put him behind at 1-0 in the third. And the way Miller was pitching that was enough.

George Alusik's leadoff single in the fourth, followed by Boros' 390-foot shot over the center-field fence left him trailing at 3-0. And after a Miller single, sacrifice and walk to Hendley in the fifth, Cracker skipper Buddy Bates derricked his young southpaw.

That was only the signal for the Barons to go beserk and assault Valentine and McMahan with a vengeance the rest of the way. Corky didn't last out the seven-run fifth, and McMahan was victimized for one run in the sixth and six more in the seventh.

The bespectacled southpaw made more than token contribution to his own massacre in the seventh. He walked four batters, including the first three he faced.

Bates let him take the licking. He might as well have, for victory hopes had already been killed by stick-wielding Barons.

Hal DeMars (0-2) will seek revenge for the Crackers Saturday night. Either Ron Nischwitz (4-2) or Wyman Carey (0-0), both southpaws, will fire the first pitch for Birmingham at 8:30 (Atlanta time).

CRACKER CRUMBS — Jim Raugh, returned by Charleston, became a Baron again Friday, bolstering Newsome's so-so hurling corps. . . . Carl Wagner, Birmingham's first-string catcher, will be out about 10 days. X rays of his thumb, injured while lunging for a ball in New Orleans, showed no break but the digit is sore and swelled.

Hendley slipped and almost fell off the mound while pitching to Shell in the third. His pitch hit about half way to the plate and bounced to the catcher. . . . Cracker Bob Uecker got hit across the neck by a bat as Henley followed through on a missed strike in the third, then hit himself on the shin when he topped a ball while batting in the fourth.

Pels Surge Ahead, 6-2, But Vols Stumble, 14-3

From Press Dispatches

Nashville saw its win streak snapped at eight straight Friday night while the New Orleans Pelicans ran their skein to four.

Chattanooga bombed Jerry Cade with a seven-run fifth inning and went on to defeat the Vols, 14-3. The Pelicans dropped Shreveport, 6-2.

The Nashville loss was their first in the last 11 games at Sulpher Dell and the first for Cade after four victories.

Lefty Kelton Russell turned in a six-hitter for New Orleans who tallied single runs off starter Bob Davis in the second, third, fourth and fifth then added two off fireman Ben Swearingen in the eighth.

Ida Cason Entertains Water Show

Special to The Constitution

PINE MOUNTAIN—The annual Water Sports Festival featuring water safety demonstrations and long distance swimming will be held at Ida Cason Callaway Gardens Sunday from noon to 4 p.m., according to W. T. Cooksey, festival chairman.

The swimming event will take place at Robin Lake Beach under the sanction of the AAU. Women will swim three miles and the event begins at noon.

Men will swim four miles and competition is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. More than 20 swimmers are expected to enter the long distance event.

The main attraction in water safety will be a drown proofing demonstration directed by Ed Smyke of Emory University. Drown proofing is fundamentally the development of a breathing technique with a minimum of energy so that cramps, heavy clothes, injuries, waves and rough water have little or no effect on survival.

The Atlanta Chapter of the American Red Cross will demonstrate water safety and rescue procedures in addition to the armlift method of artificial respiration. The event will be directed by Charles Rice, director of safety services for the Atlanta Chapter.

The Festival will be directed by Ed Smyke of Emory with assistance by Dr. W. B. Gabrielsen, swimming coach at the University of Georgia. Ray Moore, news commentator of WSB-TV of Atlanta, will be master of ceremonies.

Harrison Grabs Lead In Snead

Sanders Skids To Third Slot

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Dutch Harrison, the Arkansas golf traveler, rolled into the halfway lead of the Sam Snead Festival Friday by shooting his second straight 2-under-par 68.

The 136 total put the 49-year-old Harrison, now playing out of St. Louis, Mo., one stroke up on Snead, the 47-year-old host of the $10,000 tournament. Snead turned in a 69 behind his opening 68 for 137.

The two members of the old guard took over from 25-year-old Doug Sanders of Cedartown, Ga., and 23-year-old Bruce Crampton of Sydney, Australia, who had held the first round lead with 67s.

Sanders went one over par for a 71 on his second tour of the 6,497-yard course and dropped into third place at 138. Crampton spared to 73 and was in a tie for sixth place at 140.

TECH READIES BLEMKER

REBS POP STATE AND PLAY JACKETS FOR SEC CROWN

By MICKEY LOGUE

It's Georgia Tech vs. Mississippi for the Southeastern Conference baseball championship.

Ole Miss clinched the Western Division title and a finals berth opposite Tech by defeating Mississippi State Friday, 4-2.

The Jackets had sewed up their second Eastern Division crown in three years a week earlier.

The best-of-three championship series starts with a single game Monday at Oxford, Miss. Round 2 comes Tuesday at Tech's Rose Bowl Field. If a third game is necessary, it also will be played at Tech.

Coach Joe Pittard has picked Jacket ace Buddy Blemker to go against the Rebels in Monday's 3 p.m. (EST) opener. Mississippi's Tom Swayze counters with once-beaten Larry Williams.

Blemker composed a nifty 1.76 earned run average in winning eight and losing two. Williams wound up with an even brighter 9-1 won-loss chart.

Blemker is the first of three southpaws who anchor Tech's pitching staff. And Williams paces Mississippi's three leading firers, all right-handers.

Williams relieved in the eighth inning Friday, quelling a two-run State uprising. However, starter Denny Blomquist had permitted only one hit prior to the three he surrendered in the eighth.

With Saturday's finale against State remaining, the Rebels stand 9-3 in the conference, 1½ games ahead of mathematically eliminated Alabama.

After completing its season with a 1-0 loss to Mississippi Monday, Alabama needed two State triumphs to stay alive in the West.

Tech finished 11-4 in the SEC and 15-5 overall. After Mississippi disclosed that it would not compete in the NCAA's District 3 tournament June 4-6, Tech accepted an invitation and will represent the conference in Gastonia, N.C.

Lefty Eddie Chambless (4-1) will pitch the second game for Tech, and Mississippi is expected to throw Blomquist (5-2).

Virtually idle since last Saturday's closing victory over Georgia, the Bulldogs lost a 10-inning Friday scrimmage to the Bulldogs.

Pittard pitched Blemker, Chambless, Jimmy Nail and Curtis Beavers in the workout.

"We certainly appreciate Coach Jim Whatley's gesture in letting his boys come over," Pittard said.

Prep Meet Raises Hurdle for Fields

Druid Hills and Cairo Threats In All-Class Track Meet Today

By EARL SIMPKINS

Southwest DeKalb's Glynn Fields is two track meets away from a grand slam, and he will be trying for one of them Saturday against the field in the Georgia All-State Invitational meet.

Starting time is 1:30 p.m. at Grady Stadium.

Fields has been high point man in every track meet he has been in this year and has only two more—the All-State and Georgia-Alabama—to go.

But the field at Grady probably will be the toughest he has faced. In his specialty, the 100-yard dash, he will be pushed by speedy Gary Ray of North Whitfield, Billy Mill of Glennville and Grady's Sandy Seligman, whom Fields beat in the Class AAA meet last weekend.

The going will be tough in the 440, also, with Billy Sellmer of Southwest, Wilbur Williamson of Avondale and Ralph Parkman of Carrollton running. Parkman recently won the Class A 440 for the second straight year.

As far as numbers go, Druid Hills leads with nine entrants. North Whitfield comes next in line with five. Druid Hills will be favored to win the team trophy, with Fields—in the 100, 440, broad jump and running on a 440-relay team—looking like the top individual.

However, Fields could get some tough competition from Ray, who is entered in the 100, 220 and will run on a mile relay team.

In the Class AA meet at Athens Ray collected 13 points for North Whitfield while Fields picked up 13¾ in Class AAA competition.

Druid Hills was the leader among Class AAA teams with 23 5/6 points to 17½ for Southwest of Atlanta, and the Red Devils should do equally well at Grady Saturday.

Another threat for individual honors could be Bob Meyer of Druid Hills, entered in two field events. Meyer was fifth in the broad jump in the state meet and took first in the high jump with a leap of 6-1½.

Cairo, which won the Class AA crown in the state meet by picking up 22 of 25 points in the field events, will once again be strongly represented, although they have only two men in these events.

But these two are Elmer Davis and Randolph Wimberly, and together they earned 20 points in the state meet. Davis was a double winner, taking the pole vault and the broad jump, while Wimberly won the shot put, placed second in the discus and came in third in the broad jump.

some points and never before has a team made such a blazing run through so fine a collection of British golfers.

Harvie Ward of San Francisco used a hickory-shafted putter older than himself to knock in a 15-foot putt for one of the comeback American victories. The putt, one of three beauties by Ward, gave Harvie and Dr. Frank Taylor of Pomona, Calif., a 1-up triumph over Reid Jack and Douglas Sewell.

Ten minutes later Bill Hyndman, Abington, Pa., insurance executive, and Tommy Aaron, Gainesville, Ga., collegian, closed out the top British Isles pair of Joe Carr and Guy Wolstenholme, 1-up, on the same home green.

Then, four minutes later the American kid team of Jack Nicklaus, 19, of Columbus, Ohio, and Ward Wettlaufer, 23, of Buffalo, N.Y., whipped the British youngsters, Alex Shepperson, and Michael Lunt, 2 and 1.

Jackets Smash Bulldogs, 32-16

Despite a low 71 by ex-Bulldog Lester Kelly, Georgia Tech alumni blitzed their Georgia counterparts, 32-16, in an informal golf match Friday at Peachtree Country Club.

Medal-wise, former Jackets locked up the next four spots behind Kelly. Charles Harrison and Dynamite Goodloe had 72s, and Tommy Barnes and Frank Zeigler posted 74s.

Moorhouse Crashes In '500' Qualifying

Bethea Replaces Folley For Alex Miteff Match

From Press Dispatches

Rookies are finding the Indianapolis Speedway no place to get fancy.

Johnny Moorhouse Friday became the third first-time driver this week to lose control of his car when he banged into a retaining wall but escaped with only a skinned elbow.

Which leads to the belief that old timers will dominate Saturday's qualifying session for the 500-mile race May 30. The Rathmann brothers—Jim and Dick—are among the leading veterans.

Some 18 cars are expected to compete in Saturday's opening qualifying, with the fastest time winning the pole position for the "500."

POP MAY KNOW BEST, BUT JUNIOR IS LOW

Move over, Pa, but Junior's coming of age.

While golf veteran Tommy Barnes was firing a 74 Friday in one match, his 14-year-old son, Tommy Jr., uncorked a 72 at Griffin to capture the state Junior High championship.

"It's not the first time he's beat me," proud pa said. "But I must say I was shocked when (wife) Rachael told me over the phone that Tommy had won by shooting a 72."

Young Barnes, a 5-6, 130-pound eighth grader at Decatur, clipped eight strokes off the junior tourney record and was eight strokes better than his nearest foe, Bill Landau of Albany, who had an 80.

It was the best competitive medal score of Junior Barnes' life, bettering his 73 several weeks ago in a tournament at Chattanooga, Tenn.

Barnes had a pair of birdies and bogies on each of the nines at the rugged, par 72 Griffin Golf Club course.

Teamwise, Lanier Junior High won the tournament with 366. Decatur was second with 373. Host Spalding had a 376.—CUNNINGHAM

MILTON CLASS A FINALIST

College Park's Gabrels, Cadora Crush Newton With Homers, 4-1

By PAUL ATKINSON

Home run blasts by Kim Gabrels and Ronald Cadora brought College Park High School a reprieve in 4-AA baseball duelling Friday and put the burden of proof on an all-important game Monday at College Park.

Gabrels, a highly rated third-base candidate for the Constitution's North-South All-Star game at Ponce de Leon Park, June 5, slammed a pair of homers — both with the bases empty in the first and third innings — and Cadora rocked his in the fifth as College Park broke out of a no-hit noose welded by Newton County pitching, 4-1.

Meanwhile, Milton disposed of Carrollton, 2-0, on John DeVore's spectacular one-hitter and earned a berth in the Class A finals. The victory clinched the 1-A title and was helped along by Sonny Wright's tie-breaking RBI single in the fifth and a booming double by Johnny Dorris, who set up the second run.

And Rossville's Kenneth Cordell finished off West Rome, 8-0, on a two-hitter in the 3-AA playoff. Cordell struck out six and walked only one. A five-run third inning, highlighted by Wink Baker's two-RBI double, a two-RBI single by Floyd Shadrick and Ronnie James' RBI single, did the damage. James smacked three hits for the winners, who got a second straight route-going chore from Cordell in as many days.

In other baseball developments on the prep scene, pairings for the State Class AAA tournament at Thomaston were given by GHSA secretary Sam Burke. North Fulton, 3-AAA titlist, and 1-AAA winner Lanier go in the 3 p.m. Monday game, while comebacking 4-AAA victor and defending champion Griffin tussles with 1958 runner-up Savannah in the 1 p.m. opener.

Yet another set of games is docketed for Monday night. Game times are 6:30 and immediately after. Losers play in the 6:30 game and winners in the one at approximately 9.

Bill Curry worked a masterful game for College Park after a somewhat rocky first inning. He surrendered a home run to Larry Parnell, who no-hit the College Parkers at Porterdale Thursday, and a double to Gerald Autry. But after the first, no other base runner reached in the game brought to a swift conclusion of 1 hour, 20 minutes.

Gabrels' first homer got back the run Parnell secured, and the eventual winner scored in the second frame on this sequence: Donald Cadora singled and scored on walks to Larry Bruce, Jim Graham and brother Ronald Cadora. Gabrels and Ronald Cadora belted homers in the third and fifth to make it easier for Curry, who struck out six and didn't walk a man.

ENSEMBLES SCORE WITH TEEN SEAMSTRESSES
Lisa Barnett, Gail Polk Remove Jackets for Versatile Wear

'Sew-Smooth' Classes Hits Style Honor Roll

By RAYMONDE ALEXANDER
Constitution Fashion Editor

Some courses taken at school leave nothing tangible to show for a quarter's labor. But not so in the home economics sewing classes.

At Bass High the reward is a chance to show your talents before mothers and friends in a fashion show following the theme of South Pacific.

Friday, during the school's assembly hour, embryo seamstresses with the assistance of some 18 young men of the school showed fashions for around the clock. The girls wore fashions for which they had selected their own patterns, and fabrics. They had cut and sewn the garments themselves during the school quarter. The young men were supplied fashions by a community men's store.

At one time viewers may have suspected they were seeing double. Twins Elaine and Vaseleke Balikas appeared in dresses they had made just alike. What with the girls looking identical, there were many double takes. Their dresses were made along the Empire line of all-over embroidered cotton in white with pink design.

Lisa Barnett chose cotton silk in multi shades of red checks for her two-way ensemble. Without the jacket, the dress is a loosely fitting sheath with make- believe pockets and no sleeves. Its jacket is of the loose hipbone length.

A day or night dress is the creation of Gail Polk. The full skirt is yellow organdy and the straped bodice is embroidered cotton. A tiny rib-cage jacket, tying in the back, covers it for day.

In the sportswear field were the Jamaica shorts in blue cotton topped with a checked overblouse in blue and white made by Linda Fleming.

Tommie Lindsey made a clever shortie pajama set in pink printed white seersucker. The top was scalloped at the hemline and edged in lace.

TUCKER STUDENTS HANDSOME AND TALENTED
Robert and Danny Carter Promising Young Musicians

Tucker Brothers Share Music World Spotlight

Harmony may not reign in the Carter household in Tucker, but at least there is little discord.

Robert Carter, 18, and his 15-year-old brother, Danny, members of the Atlanta Community Orchestra, seldom get together with their music, but it is not because of personality clashes: Robert, a senior at Tucker High School, plays the French horn, and Danny, a Tucker freshman, is equally skilled at coaxing pleasant notes from the trumpet.

Sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Carter, the talented young musicians point out that their instruments "just don't go together," so arguments are somewhat lessened when it comes to practice sessions.

"Although we don't practice together," Robert confided, "we sometimes trade instruments. Both can play the other's"

"We trust each other," Danny added, "at least when it comes to taking care of the instruments.

Practice sessions with the orchestra (both boys have played with the Atlanta Symphony, too) take up a lot of their time, but in no way curtails other activities. During his high school career, Robert has participated in "every sport except football," is business manager of the "Tiger Tales" staff, member of the Key, Beta and Science Clubs, and a member of the debate team.

Danny is pitcher on the school baseball team, and both youths maintain good scholastic averages.

The Carter boys were introduced to the music world years ago, when they were members of an elementary school band. Both are seriously interested in music, and have hopes of pursuing a career in that field. "But, Robert added, "music is such a selective field, we plan to major in something else at college, so we'll at least have something to fall back on. Just in case."

Boys boys have won scholarships to the Transylvania Music Camp in Brevard, N. C. Robert attended three years ago, and Danny won a scholarship last year. Robert enrolls at Florida State University in the summer for music lessons.

While the boys declare their practice sessions (at least two hours each day are devoted to their music, in addtion to work with the entire group) never interfere with homework or household chores, they'd much rather pick up a horn than a textbook, if they had their choice.

Is the Law Too Lenient On Juveniles?

Recently, law enforcement agents have declared today's laws are too lenient regarding crimes of juveniles. Do you agree? Is the law "coddling" teen-age offenders? Should crimes committed by youths be handled on the same policy as adult crimes. Why?

The Constitution will pay $10 to the high school student who writes the best letter on this subject, and $1 for each additional letter used. Address entries to Young Ideas Editor; include name, age, address, school and grade. Letters must be postmarked by midnight Tuesday, May 19.

Elect Annual Staff

DAMASCUS—Geier Haddock has been elected editor in chief of the 1959-60, "The Lions Tale," annual publication of the class.

Barbecue Base

Canned tomato sauce or condensed tomato soup may be used as a base for a barbecue sauce. Onion, green pepper, garlic, Worcestershire sauce will need to be added.

New Gadgets on Parade For More Picnic Fun

Like picnics? Most teens do. The latest entries in the gadget parade are aimed at making summer outings more fun, with less work.

For instance, you can get off the grass with the smallest camp stool ever made. The whole thing, available at most hardware, department and dime stores, folds flat and compact.

A heavy aluminum griddle, 16 inches across, holds steaks, fish or burgers to feed six hungry picnickers. It has a wooden handle that guarantees cool fingers, folds over for easy packing.

Like coffee or hot chocolate en route? (Some cool weather experts maintain a hot drink is really more refreshing during sweltering days than iced beverages). Pick up an eight-cup coffee pot that has plugs for both car lighter sockets and house current. It comes in a kit with cups, saucers, spoons, carrying case. Also it has a bracket so you can hang it on the car window.

If you picnic quite a distance from the car, you might like a seven-cup coffee maker that burns propane. Fuel tank fits right under the handle. Makes coffee in about 10 minutes.

The moppet set will look in anguish toward teen-age baby-sitters who take on outings the new leak-proof, two-and-a-half gallon water tank that comes with shallow basin, soap, brush and towels. But you'll find it mighty handy.

If you camp out for any length of time, you will appreciate two-burner stove that carries six pounds of propane fuel in a refillable tank.

CAMPUS COMMENTS

Recognition of Teen-Agers Sometimes Misses the Mark

Teen-agers rightfully bask in the spotlight of recognition for their worthwhile accomplishments, maintain most students who expressed their opinions for Campus Comments this week.

Many hailed the Young Ideas section of the Constitution for calling attention to the good news teens make. Indeed, only a few declare today's young people do not get the recognition they deserve. However, many blasted the still-too-widespread faculty the general public has of emphasizing juvenile delinquency.

In her winning letter, Mary Lena Duncan, 16, Calhoun, lashes out at juvenile delinquency which, she says, came into being with the era of modern communication:

The phrase, "Juvenile Delinquency" glared from every publication. Books were written on the subject, and drives started against it. Apparently everyone was doing everything in their power to strike against this youth parasite. They strived to kill it and yet they nurtured its very cause—lack of attention. The notorious publicity directed at juvenile delinquency was encouraging it, for, after all, that was one certain way to get the attention they were after.

The situation has, in the past 12 years, improved somewhat. Youth organizations, youth publications and youth programs are now doing an effective job of acquainting the public with the prettier part of the picture—that of the average teen-ager.

There never will be a pure balanced report on the whole picture as long as the human element hungry for sensationalism, controls communications. As in the case of the teen-agers, there will always be one sensation-seeker for every 100 good reports.

For teen-agers, there is only one solution: Work harder. The harder we work, the more progress we will make. Of course, some juvenile delinquency will prevail, but there will always be more good teen-agers.

The one solution is work, not only on the part of the teen-ager, but the adults as well. Stay as well-versed on the good accomplishments of teen-agers as on the "stray" element. Remain aware of both sides of the picture. Lead the way, don't push. And Work.

Kenneth Johnson, Palmetto, asserts "teens are not properly recognized in the fields they should be. In most cases, such as winning a track meet or football games, being good is over-emphasized. Such things as being a mathematical genius or a good writer or showing unusual ability in the science field, is seldom emphasized."

Berry Smith, Palmetto, agrees, and adds "... a thief can play good football."

Susan Battles, Bainbridge, points out that because of the blame, however wrongly, teens draw because of the actions of the juvenile delinquents (who actually make up less than 3 per cent of the age-group), "adults are just a little reluctant to praise a young person for a job well-done."

Susan adds that "if parents could have an open mind when they go about praising teens, and praise them for a job well done, the youths would strive to do bigger and better things ... Parents should be more careful of how they acknowledge young people ... parents could be more considerate of the advancement of their youngsters, and at least give them a chance to prove themselves worthy of high regard."

Campbell High senior Joann Cantrell points out that "recognition is not wanted by teens so much as satisfaction from a job well done:"

Teens are not out to get their name and picture in the paper, but to secure joy from achievement. As a whole, they are properly recognized

Being a teen-ager does not mean "out for publicity and recognition," but "out to achieve as much as possible in their younger years."

Atlantan Norma Todd, 17, declares today's teens are recognized as the adults of tomorrow. Norma adds: "They are given every opportunity to prove themselves capable of accepting responsibility and when confronted with the matter, they shake off all childishness to become mature adults."

Roy Smolarsky, 17, College Park, maintains that "the amount of publicity teens receive is really up to the young people. Parents have realized the necessity of giving teens credit for their properly organized ideas and goals."

Jerry Chappell, 17, College Park, thinks the amount of appreciation is obvious since "so many teens are getting good jobs, and really going places. ... Adults realize today's youth is more active than a few years ago."

Gail Harper of Jonesboro asserts "teens who say they aren't properly recognized are those who don't observe much. These are usually the ones who, when they get the paper, turn to the funny pages and that is as far as they go."

Barbara Williams, Fairburn student, accuses: ". . . Some teens feel they should be praised and told how smart they are. But, it is wrong to do something only because they think the spotlight will be on them. You are expected to grow up right—your mother and father did.

"That child who threw himself on the floor and turned blue in the face for attention might now be the football hero who always plays to the grandstand. Teens are praised quite enough for their achievements. 'raised' some of our teen-agers during the three years the dances have been held."

She explained that one student attended the dances each week during his senior year in high school, and continued to attend during his first year of college.

"At our last dance," Mrs. Templeton said, "he showed up in a Navy uniform, And with his fiancee."

GIFT TO FANS
Singer Pat Boone

Graduation At Tallulah Set May 22

Commencement exercises at Tallulah Falls School will get under way officially on Sunday, May 17, when the baccalaureate sermon will be given in the Isma Dooly Auditorium.

Graduation exercises will be held on the athletic field on Friday, May 22, at 8 p.m. Brunswick A. Bagdon, regional director, U.S. Department of Labor, will be the guest speaker. Class speakers will include Valedictorian James Milton and Salutatorian Grace Stancil.

Special music will be presented by the chorus and the Girls' Sextette, under the direction of Eugene Ramey.

Dr. K. J. Harris, superintendent, will present the candidates for diplomas.

RECORD ROUNDUP

Pat's Gift To Fans Marks 4th Anniversary

By BETTY CARROLLTON

Pat Boone celebrates his fourth anniversary with Dot records by presenting a tuneful gift to his fans:

Pat's newest package of pleasant listening, appropriately titled, "Tenderly," marks a milestone in the career of the popular singer. The anniversary album features a dozen of the "most requested" songs, never before recorded by Pat, and the result makes one wonder why he waited 'til now to wax these lovely tunes.

Backed with orchestration by Billy Vaughn, the mellow voice of Mr. Boone was never better. Such songs as "Maybe You'll Be There," "More Than You Know," "Why Don't You Believe Me," and, of course, "Tenderly," will enrich listening hours of young and old alike.

SOLID SENDERS: The Wildcats follow up smash "Gazachstahagen" with an equally promising coupling of hand-clapping instrumentals that dance demons will welcome: "King Size Guitar" and "Dancing Elephants" . . . Ray and Lindy come through with some infectious sounds in a duo of top teen tunes, "Angel Love" and "Yes, That's Love" . . . The Coasters head for Hitville with new entry, "Along Came Jones," an interesting parody of Westerns, backed by "That Is Rock 'n' Roll" . . . The Gaylords are once more in stride with better-than-lately entry "Sweeter Than You" and "Homin' Pigeon" . . . Bobby Freeman takes the spotlight with drivin' rocker, "Mary Ann Thomas," assisted by a female chorus. Flip, "Love Me," is a rockarumba that should get attention . . . Don Ralke and orchestra follow sensational "77 Sunset Strip" single with real gasser, "Zooba!", coupled with rockin' version of "Stardust."

ALBUM APPLAUSE: Singer-comedian-actor Jack Lemon offers an interesting second package, this one from his current movie, "Some Like It Hot." Jack's new album features selections highlighted in the film, as well as other songs of the 20s, the era in which the reel romp is staged. The program opens with "Sweet Georgia Brown," featuring Jack's easy piano style. "Try a Little Tenderness" is presented against a lush string background, with Lemmon again tackling the ivories for an especially good version of "Down Among the Sheltering Pines." Jack sings "I'm Thru With Love" against backing of a fine string quartet, displays his whimsical best in "Button Up Your Overcoat."

Broadway Rhythm

The businessmen's bounce school of dancing will put Ray Coniff's newest offering, "Broadway in Rhythm," at the top of the honor roll. Coniff has applied his talents as an arranger to 14 popular standards from "Oklahoma," "The King and I," "My Fair Lady" and "South Pacific." The resulting harvest, although somewhat lacking in contrast, is exactly what the title suggests. A "wordless" chorus is utilized for coloring rather than lyrics and, by placing them against various sections of his orchestra, Ray has achieved a quite unusual effect.

Pianist From 'Down Under' Will Star At Piedmont Arts Festival Tonight

By HARRIETTE WEINSTEIN

An Australian pianist is now equally as well known in her new home, Atlanta.

Slim, almost auburn haired Mrs. Jean Sterrett, who began her career at the age of 8, will be one of the star performers at the Atlanta Arts Festival in Piedmont Park tonight. The program begins at 8:30 p.m.

Her earliest step in a career in music occured at the Eisteddfodd competitions in Australia.

"Each pupil played the same piece. I was eight years old and I won," she said. "From then on it was always understood I would be a pianist."

This start led to other prizes in competitions, including a scholarship to the conservatory of music in Australia.

RECITALS BACK HOME

Recitals over the national broadcasting system in Australia, tours through the country and various other public performances were made before she left Australia. Then in 1946 she met and married an American soldier and moved to Atlanta.

"I thought I'd die when the ship pulled out of the harbor," she recalled. "But I found Atlanta and Sydney very much alike. And I have had no homesickness since we sailed."

But the move did not interrupt her career. In fact she has even taken on the "hobby" of dramatics, working with Theater Atlanta and Drama Tech and other local talent productions.

Since coming to Atlanta, Mrs. Sterrett has performed with the Pops Orchestra and with recitals at Emory, Oglethorpe and the University of Georgia. She has also broadcast recitals over an Atlanta radio station.

Problems of getting a piano out to the park were solved when Mrs. Sterrett arranged to have her own piano moved.

OUTDOOR CONCERT

"But, since it will be out in the open, threatening weather would mean we couldn't move the piano."

Atlanta is now home. In fact, her mother has since moved here, too.

Mrs. Sterrett, who spends a great deal of her time teaching piano, has observed "so much growth in both music and theater in the 10 years I've been here in Atlanta."

Exposure, she counts, as one of the best ways to bring about music appreciation.

"Children should't start music lessons too young, unless it's a piano class where there is not much required of them. They are not old enough for reading so they can dance, play the drums and learn notes."

After they are older, she recommends lessons for those who are interested in learning.

Reluctant to criticize music in this country, she did say, "It would be good if there were more prizes and competitions offered. These encourage pupils to go on with a music career."

"But all children should get the benefit of hearing good music. That was one good thing about the Australian radio. It was a government-owned radio and played good music all day."

HEAR GOOD MUSIC

She enjoys teaching. But teaching her 11-year-old son caused difficulties.

"I'll say it was a problem," she laughed with faint traces of her accent remaining. "We couldn't get along at all."

Mrs. Sterrett visited Australia last year. And though it was nice to visit, she was ready to come home to Atlanta.

"I bought a clarinet for my son in New Zealand," she added. "And then we found out that the clarinet has a different pitch from the ones in this country. So my son is thinking about going to work to earn enough money to buy an American one."

Other members of her "family" include a cat, four kittens and a black puppy from the Humane Society, named Michael.

"We named our cat Ptolemy because I thought it was a male. Since then our 'male' Ptolemy has had numerous litters of kittens."

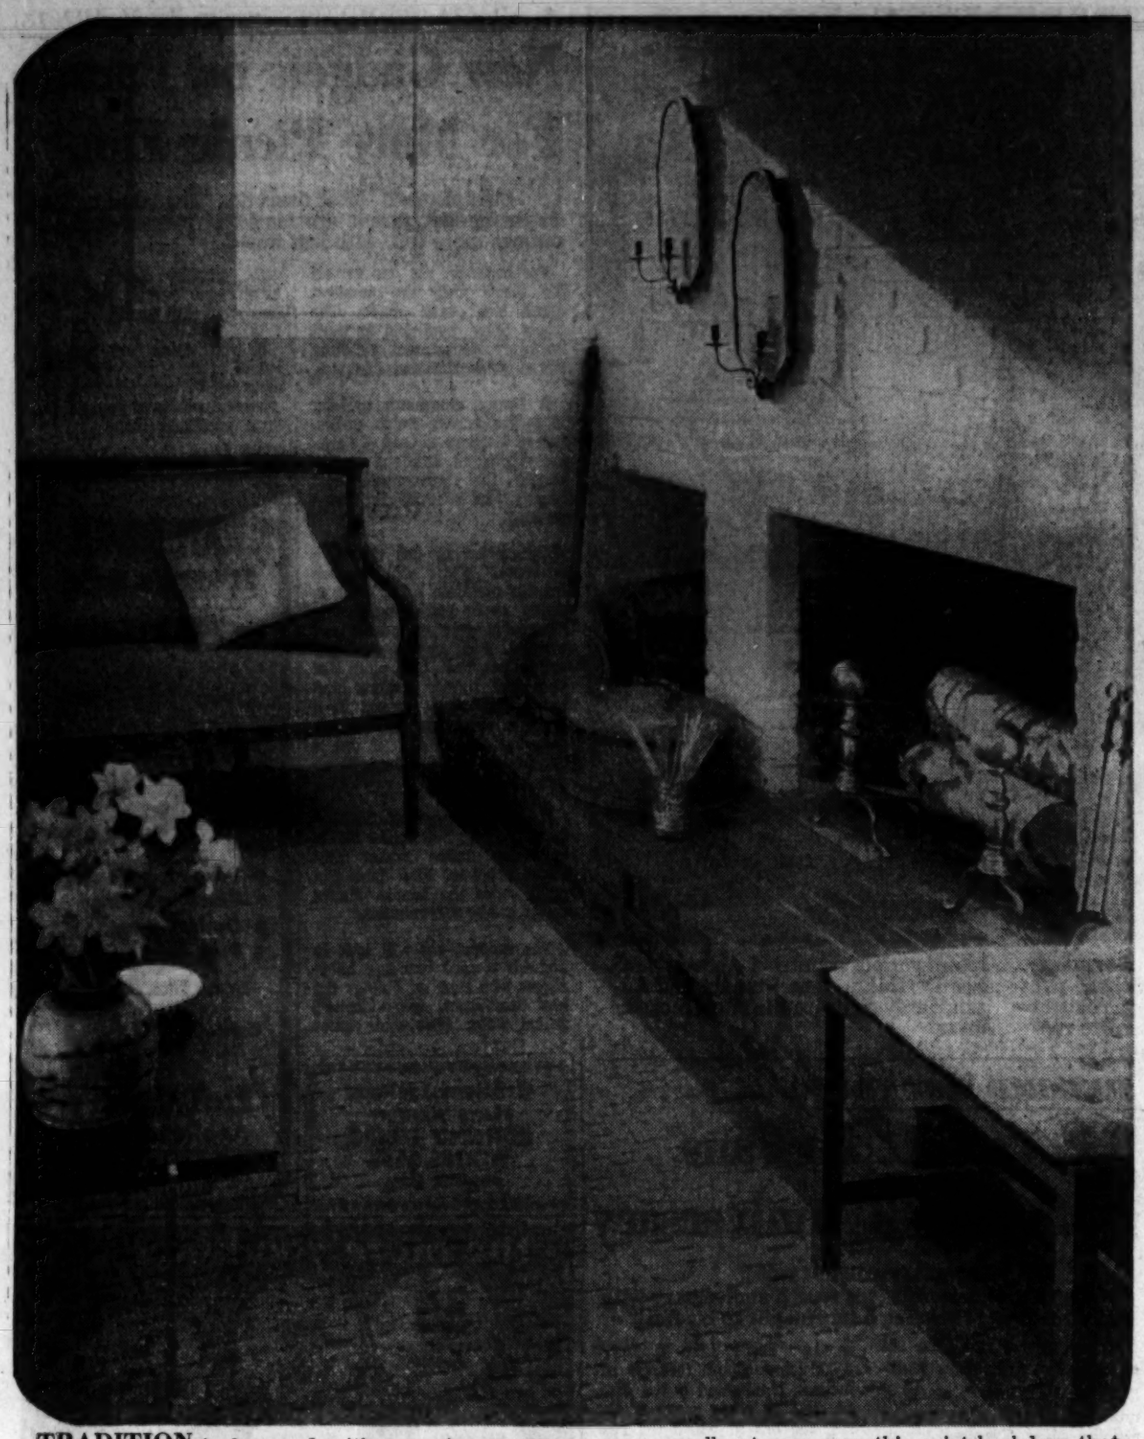
Mrs. Sterrett to Perform at Atlanta Arts Festival



TRADITION is leavened with a contemporary viewpoint in this new carpet design. An antique Greek key theme inspired the subtle texture of the carpet which is worked in a fresh patterning of nubby wool loops and sheared smooth area. Classic 18th century Directoire sofa and new Danish pieces seem equally at ease upon this quiet backdrop that echoes the brick hearth. Note the birch logs in the fireplace. There has been a very marked growth of interest in Danish arts and crafts which are being selected for everyday use.

English Group To View Picture Series

A series of unusual and beautiful pictures will be shown to members of the English Speaking Union on Thursday, May 21, at the Life of Georgia Auditorium.

In addition to the colored movies of gardens at Compton Wyngates, the treasures at Chatsworth House and Dunvegan Castle, there also will be shown colored movies of "This Is London:" Narrator will be Rex Harrison.

If Culture Is Really Your Dish, This Week's Social Menu Is for You

By YOLANDE GWIN

If culture is your dish, the social menu for the next few days has more than the blue plate special usually offers.

Arty? Alright, the artist members of the Atlanta Art Assn. will join with members of Junior League Hospitality Committee as hostesses for a reception Sunday afternoon at art galleries on Peachtree street. The affair will follow the opening of the annual Artists-Members Exhibition in the Galleries. The showing, for the benefit of those who like to plan ahead, will be held through June.

Still arty? Then wander through Piedmont Park hand in hand with your favorite companion and see all the wonders at the Arts Festival. Every mind medium can be appeased for it is as varied (free too,) as alphabet soup.

If you're an opera lover—even this early after the Met season—you can go (free again) out to Oglethorpe University Saturday night and see and hear a gay performance called "The Telephone" by Gian Carlo-Menotti. Taking part will be Jerry Scarboro, Meredith Zara and Richard Morris.

Like the ballet? There is the buffet supper Saturday evening at the Atlanta Athletic Club when the Southern Ballet's annual dancing award will be presented.

Like to see how other people live? Then go out to Sandy Springs Sunday anytime between 2 and 5 p.m. and take the tour of homes sponsored by the Sandy Springs High School PTA.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dodd, at 6855 Brandon Mill Rd., will open their home. Mr. Dodd, in case you don't read the comic section, draws the strip, "Mark Trail." The home is in contemporary style and very beautifully furnished.

Country Squire Farm, situated in the heart of more than 200 acres and the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Adams at 1225 Meadow Lane, will be open, too.

Then there will be the rural English home of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Smith, at 560 Royer Vista Dr., where the outdoor eating area is accented by a swimming pool.

It will be "a last chance" attitude for those who will visit the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Cook at 5775 Long Island Dr. Although this picturesque farmhouse withstood the visit of that Yankee, General Sherman, it seems to be helpless when it comes to Atlanta's city fathers. The house is soon to be torn down to make way for the expressway. Seems it's progress.

THE MANY FRIENDS of Dana Kilcrease who have been visiting him during his recent illness at Crawford W. Long Hospital can see him at his home, 3766 Wieuca Rd., where he is convalescing.

A VACATION AT Hollywood Beach and a trip to Nassau are being enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Christiansen and Mr. and Mrs. James Porter of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gurley of Cartersville.

IF THE FRIENDS of Mrs. James Duffell and Mrs. J. W. Pindar don't hear from them in several weeks they can blame the travel agents. The trip they've planned for the duo is a whirlwind of exciting visits.

Mrs. Duffell leaves Sunday for Washington, D. C., to visit her son, Maj. James Proctor and Mrs. Proctor and her four grandchildren. After this reunion, which certainly will be a lively one with four children under foot, she will go to New York. There she will be joined by her niece, Mrs. Pindar and the two women will fly to Europe. Their trip on the continent which begins with their landing in Lisbon, sounds like just what it is—an exciting route, right out of the pages of a travel folder. The two women will fly and motor all through Europe, go up to the land of the midnight sun and then fly home, sometime in July.

THE "STAR BOARDER" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McCormick at 2585 Woodgreen Dr. in Chamblee is—you've guessed it—their young son, James Hansell, III, who is cooing away in his blue and white nursery. The youngster was born, April 21, at Georgia Baptist Hospital and his mother, the former Jean McDonald, said yesterday, that the nursery "trimmings" are all complete. "We didn't know whether to have the room, pink for a girl or blue for a boy, so naturally we were a little late getting things fixed up. But everything is fine, especially my little son," she said.

NEXT IS THE FINISHED PRODUCT—William H. Thrasher, who will be the administrator of the new DeKalb General Hospital, studies an artist's conception of what the finished product will look like. Ground-breaking ceremonies Friday were headed by Dr. J. R. Evans, chairman of the DeKalb Hospital Authority. The hospital is expected to be completed in 1961.

Rep. Flynt Blasts U.S. Spending

Government spending and "expedient improvisations of surrender to the blackmail of minority pressure groups" were attacked here Friday by Rep. John J. Flynt Jr. as threats to the American way of life.

Flynt told delegates to the 30th annual meeting of the Assn. of Interstate Commerce Commission Practitioners the federal debt is "a time bomb hanging over the security of our people."

He declared incentive and initiative are destroyed by over-spending by the United States and by local governments.

CITES SUBSIDIES

"Every sizable voting group, nearly every phase of American economic life is demanding its share of gigantic subsidies," he declared. "The point may be near where all citizens are expected to receive something from the government instead of contributing to its maintenance."

Flynt told AICCP delegates "a definite and consistent effort is being made to emasculate the administrative agencies and to transfer many of the duties, functions, responsibilities and powers to so-called 'administrative courts'."

Such a court, he declared, "would not be consistent with our concept of American jurisprudence."

WARNS OF COURTS

He warned that "most certain way of force creation of administrative courts" would be "arbitrary and whimsical rulings . . . by agencies themselves." He urged that findings of such groups as the ICC "continue to be in the public interest" and said that would ensure that "no serious effort will be made to strip the administrative agencies of their judicial and quasi-judicial powers and functions."

J. E. Bilbo, traffic manager of Coca-Cola Co., who was elected a regional vice president of the association the day before, presided over final session of the two-day meeting at the Dinkler Plaza Hotel Friday. Delegates also heard Robert F. Dudley of Cleveland, general traffic manager, Standard Oil Co. of Ohio, speak on "Bona-fide Private Transportation as Opposed to Pseudo-Private Transportation."

Gen. Ruffner To Keynote Tech Honors

The annual joint military honors ceremony of Georgia Tech's Army, Navy and Air Force ROTC units will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday at Grant Field.

Lt. Gen. Clark L. Ruffner, Third Army's commanding general, will keynote the exercises.

A review of the combined ROTC brigade and presentation of awards to outstanding military students will highlight the ceremony.

Col. William Bower, Dobbins Air Force Base commander, will present Society of American Military Engineers medals to Air Force Cadets James D. Reed of Atlanta, and Bob E. Lawler of Hot Springs, Arkansas.

John L. Conner will present the Atlanta Council of the Navy League award to Navy Midshipman Robert V. Soderholm of Atlanta.

Hospital Authority Will Honor Ex-Chairman Spalding Tonight

The Fulton-DeKalb Hospital Authority will present former chairman Hughes Spalding a framed resolution in "lasting appreciation" for his more than 13 years service on the authority Saturday.

Chairman Fred J. Turner will make the presentation at the authority's annual outing Saturday at Highlands, N.C.

The resolution cites Spalding's years of "devoted, loyal and distinguished service and able leadership . . . including the planning, financing and building of the new Grady Memorial Hospital, largest, most modern and comprehensive public hospital center in the South."

Georgians Protest Plan To Curtail Train Run

Representatives from Macon and Valdosta have voiced their opposition to the application of the Southern Railway Co. for authority to discontinue its Ponce de Leon trains between Atlanta and Jacksonville, Fla.

Rep. J. Taylor Phillips of Bibb County charged in a statement to the Georgia Public Service Commission Thursday that railroads have a "prefabricated plan . . . to do away with all passenger trains."

Henry Brice, Valdosta city attorney, said that passenger trains are a public convenience and necessity and some loss is "an item of expected overhead" which public utilities should accept.

LOSSES CLAIMED

The railroad, however, offered testimony to show that while about 48,000 passengers rode the trains in 1958, the system had an out of pocket loss of $112,727 on their operation.

The trains operate daylight schedules between Atlanta and Jacksonville through Macon, Tifton and Valdosta. Pullman service was discontinued early in 1958, but $17,000 of the 1958 loss was attributed to loss on the Pullman service.

PHILLIPS COUNTERS

Phillips contended that revenue increased since a schedule change in January to meet an N. C. & St. L. connection, and that the trains would not have shown a loss in the first three months of 1959 if one instead of two diesel units had been used to pull them.

On the other hand, Harley Langdale, Lowndes County naval stores and timber operator, and his son, John Langdale, a director of the Georgia Southern & Florida Railroad Co., a line of the Southern system, said that discontinuance of the trains would have no ill effect on Lowndes and adjoining counties.

Science Seen As Aid to Art of Living

Science should strive to aid in cultivation of "the art of living," Dr. Noah Langdale Jr., president of Georgia State College of Business Administration, told a national engineers' convention here Friday.

The human equation is important in business and industry, the college president declared in his address before delegates to the American Institute of Industrial Engineers.

Dr. Langdale described the ideal "symmetrical man" who achieves a balance among his "religion, work, and play." He said he was not de-emphasizing the role of science in modern life but felt "we are in great danger of reducing all living to an exact science."

AIIE delegates from all over the United States, Mexico and Canada will wind up a three-day conference-convention at the Biltmore Hotel Saturday. A full day of addresses and panel discussions Friday included subjects ranging from case studies of automation to "jet-propelled" handling techniques in product distribution.

Major speakers in addition to Dr. Langdale were Dr. Chester L. Brisley of Chance-Vought, Inc.; H. R. Bentley, plant manager, Engine Division, Chrysler Trenton Plant; John W. Lay Jr., chief engineer, IMC Equipment, Inc.; Prof. James M. Apple, Michigan State College; Dr. Grace Murray Hopper, Remington-Rand Univac; Dr. William Gombert, Columbia University, and Frank Middleswart, coordinator of engineering services for E. I. dupont de Nemours.

Grain Ends A Bit Higher

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market was a sticky affair again but it finished slightly on the higher side after dragging along both above and below previous closes.

Both the setbacks and advances were too limited to influence either buying or selling in more than moderate volume. May wheat and rye were down as much as a cent in early activity but they steadied quickly before pulling out stop loss liquidation. Nearly all other contracts shifted only in small fractions.

One weakening factor in May wheat was disappointment over word that India, by far the best U.S. customer this year, had bought 5,800,000 bushels from Canada overnight. It was the first purchase of any size that India had made in any market other than the United States this year.

Banks' Rate Raise Sends Mart Down

NEW YORK (AP)—News that leading banks had boosted interest charges upset the stock market. It declined under a wave of late selling.

Before the news came, stocks were mixed at best. Profits were being taken after five straight days of advance which led to historic highs in the prior two sessions.

Word that the banks had hiked the prime rate for lans to 4½ per cent from 4 per cent came in the final half hour of trading. Stock prices wilted almost immediately. The rush to sell put the ticker tape behind transactions for the final six minutes of trading.

The market opened with a slight gain but quickly lapsed into irregularity.

Gold shares were an island of strength all day and kept substantial gains to the end. The gold mining stocks responded to a rise in the price of gold on the London bullion market to its highest figure in five years. This advance was apparently sparked by publicity concerning the recent outflow of gold from the United States and speculation about a possible boost in the U.S. gold price.

ATLANTA HOGS AND NORTH GEORGIA CATTLE (USDA-GDA)

Estimated receipts packing plants Atlanta area: 200 cattle, 50 calves, 850 hogs. Hogs: Limited sales steady with Thursday's late sales. Few small lots U.S. No. 1, 2 and 3 mixed weight and grade $15.00-16.00. Little else on offer. Prices $16.00-16.00. Little else on offer. Prices unchanged compared with last Friday.

North Georgia cattle (Thursday's auctions and weekly summary) receipts Thursday 290 cattle and calves. Prices steady to weak with Wednesday; cows weak to 50c lower and stocker and replacement calves unevenly 50c off. Utility cows $18.50-20.60; canner and cutter $14.00-19.00, mostly $18.50 down. Standard to good 300-450-lb. slaughter calves $25.00-29.00; utility $19.50-25.00. Standard and good vealers $28.50-33.00. Medium to good 520-800-lb. stocker and feeder steers $23.50-28.75; common $20.00-25.00. Common and medium 400-525-lb. stocker and replacement heifers $21.00-23.25. Good 250-500-lb. stocker calves $28.00-32.00; medium $24.50-30.00. Common and medium stock cows $15.75-20.30. Salable receipts of 3,917 cattle and calves compared with 3,154 last week. Increased receipts on top of already weakened prices made for lower prices on most classes during the week. Compared late last week: Prices on top-standard and higher grades fed slaughter steers and heifers hard to define due to small number available; few sales of these on Tuesday, steady to $1.00 higher but most average-standard and lower grade steers and heifers 50c to fully $1.00 lower.

Cows late $1.00-2.00 lower. Bulls and stocker and feeder steers, heifers and stocker and replacement cows unevenly $1.00 lower. Vealers weak and slaughter and stocker calves 50c to $1.50 lower. In sales Tuesday some high-standard and good 675-1,080-lb. slaughter steers $27.00-30.20 and good and choice 600-900-lb. heifers $25.00-29.25. Bulk of standard steers and heifers throughout week $23.00-27.00; utility 450-950 lbs. $19.00-24.00; canner and cutter $16.75-20.50. Utility cows $18.50-21.50, some top-utility early $22.00-22.60 but very few over $20.50 late. Canner and cutter $14.00-19.50, few heavy cutters early at $20.50. Utility and commercial bulls $20.50-24.40; canner and cutter $16.70-21.50. Good and choice 285-525-lb. slaughter calves $26.00-31.00, odd head 250-300 lbs. $32.00-33.75. Standard calves $25.00-29.00; utility $19.00-26.00 and cull down to $17.00. Good and choice vealers largely $31.50-35.50, few $35.75-36.10. Standard $28.50-32.00. Stocker and feeder steers, heifers and calves chiefly common and medium grades and stocker steers not well represented in some sales above common grade. Scattered head good 500-700-lb. stocker and feeder steers $26.50-29.00. Medium 500-800 lbs. $23.50-27.50; inferior and common $15.25-23.50, few 500-600 lbs. $24.00-25.00. Medium and good 450-600-lb. heifers $22.00-21.50. Common and medium stocker and replacement cows $15.75-21.50, few young cows and well-bred beef cows to $20.00-23.00 for herd replacement. Good and choice 250-525-lb. stocker and feeder calves $27.00-34.50, few thin steer calves $35.00-37.00 but these scarce. Medium calves $25.00-30.00; common $19.50-26.50.

Sugar Futures

NEW YORK (AP)—World sugar futures were easy. There were 190 contracts posted in nearby July against business in actuals.

World raws were quoted at 2.92 cents a pound f.s.a. Cuba.

Domestic futures were quiet. A total of 208 contracts was posted in the nearby July position against business in actuals.

The domestic raw market was steady, with further sugar believed available at 6.35 cents a pound delivered. Refiners were on the sidelines for the moment after having paid that price for raws earlier this week.

Demand for refined was good, partly anticipating the advance of refined sugar scheduled for next Monday.

Domestic sugar futures No. 6 closed 1 lower. Sales 364 contracts.

Dry Goods

NEW YORK, May 15 (AP)—The cotton textile market was strong Friday. Buying of cloth increased with more converters willing to pay the higher prices established by mills this week.

Some buying extended into the first quarter of next year. One mill sold print cloth and drills as far ahead as the second quarter of 1960. However, many mills were still unwilling to sell in the more distant positions.

The wool goods market was quiet.

In the synthetic goods market, filament rayons sold well for third-quarter delivery. Supplies were tight in spot position.

Industry statistics mirrored improved operations. April shipments of rayon and acetate fibers were 38.55 per cent above the same month a year ago. The gain for January through April was about 20 per cent.

CLEMSON PROFESSOR

Arthur B. Bryan, 84, Dies; Father of Ex-Editor Here

Arthur Buist Bryan, 84, retired Clemson College professor and father of former Atlanta Journal editor Wright Bryan, died Friday at his home at Clemson, S.C.

Dr. Bryan, born on a farm in Barnwell County, S. C., was in 1898 a member of Clemson College's second graduating class. After a year of study at Peabody College in Nashville, Tenn., Dr. Bryan returned to Clemson, where he taught English for 17 years.

In 1918 he became agricultural editor for the South Carolina Extension Service and Experiment Station at Clemson College. He was the oldest extension editor in the South in length of service when he retired about 12 years ago, relatives said.

Active in church affairs, Dr. Bryan was a member of the Clemson Methodist Church. His wife, the former Margaret Sadler of Rock Hills, S. C., died about five years ago.

His son, Wright Bryan, was associated with the Journal for 26 years before accepting the position of editor of The Cleveland (Ohio) Plain Dealer in 1954.

Dr. Bryan's other survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Jessie Oswold and Mrs. C. C. Chavous, both of Allendale, S. C.; three grandchildren, and several nephews and nieces, including Mrs. Everett Padgett of Atlanta.

Dr. Bryan's first wife, the former Inez Sledge of Atlanta, died more than 30 years ago.

Funeral services for Dr. Bryan will be at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Clemson Methodist Church. Burial will be in the Old Stone Church cemetery. Duckett Funeral Home, Central, S.C., is in charge.

EXP. SALESMEN
BE YOUR OWN BOSS
FULL OR PART TIME
WE PAY flat rates of 60, 75, 85 and 95 dollars per sale. Full-time men make from 3 to 5 sales per week. Part-time men make from one to 3 sales per week. Why waste your time answering blind GET-RICH-QUICK ads. We furnish you with all materials and training of our program plus some leads. No investment on your part except to make calls, work daylight hours or evenings, you can do this plus factory, office or sales work at the same time. For full details and personal interview, come to BILTMORE HOTEL Monday, May 18, at 10 a.m. or 8 p.m. sharp only. Ask for Mr. Lonnie Newsom.

Opportunity Unlimited
IF YOU are dissatisfied with your present pay and future, or you feel that you are capable of making more money. We offer you a sales career, not just a job. Sales experience not necessary. We have openings in Bartow Floyd and Whitfield counties. You will earn immediate cash with an opportunity to build a secure future with a large well-known 50-year-old company. If you have ambition, if you are between the ages 25 and 55, this opportunity can be yours! Bonified records will prove to you that this can be your chance of a life time. Write L. A. 5, Journal-Constitution giving age, qualifications and details of your past work and experience.

Opportunity for Three
UNLESS you desire to place yourself in the $6,000-$8,000 yearly bracket, do not finish reading this ad. I don't care what your present occupation is or how much education you may have.

Your Stars Today

If men would consider not so much wherein they differ, as wherein they agree, there would be far less of uncharitableness and angry feeling in the world. —Addison.

Daily Guide — Extra emphasis on all the moods and talk of yesterday can make this a rather gloomy day in general, but those who did not indulge in the pitfalls mentioned could enjoy a very social afternoon and evening.

Seek light entertainment, friendly visits or talks, take short trips. This can come as a fine relaxation after the conflicting atmosphere of the week.

Tomorrow promises further relaxing of tensions and a chance to get away from weighty problems to enjoy nature and enjoy friendly groups.

Happy Birthday, Taurus! It is going to be difficult to remain fixed in your routine this year so better be prepared for some changes, especially at home base.

Take care in June not to let things get out of hand. Your relationships with others fall into two patterns; some can be very nebulous and disappointing, while others can bring expansion of your ambitions and some benefits through alliances.

Marriage and partnerships are favored for a short time now, but by the end of October use discretion.

RHYME A DAY

By OLLIE REEVES

"Woman shoots husband . . . 'After he slapped me down for the third time.'"—News item

No one can say and none will doubt . . . The years pass like a falling star . . . The sands of time keep running out . . . And being human, as we are . . . We cling to life with all our strength. . . . (An inborn quality of man) . . . And struggle to increase the length . . . And measure of our earthly span.

And here we have a paradox . . . A contradiction to the law . . . A careless gentleman who socks . . . A loving woman on the jaw . . . An invitation to the end . . . Of what he is, or hopes to be . . . Also a willingness to lend . . . A hand to set his spirit free.

But there will always be some men . . . Who place no value on their lives . . . And demonstrate it clearly when . . . They underestimate their wives . . . Then, suddenly, there is a shot . . . And people congregate about him . . . Looking where "X marks the spot" . . . And life goes right along without him.*

*(If this is too morbid be careful.)

Whitehead Boys' Club Will Be Dedicated Sunday

The new $400,000 Joseph B. Whitehead Memorial Boys' Club building on Lakewood avenue, SW, will be dedicated at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Formerly the Lakewood Boys' Club, the name was changed to honor the late Mr. Whitehead, a heir to Coca-Cola interests, who left much of his estate to aid needy Atlantans.

Edgar J. Forio will give the dedication address and Jesse Draper, Atlanta Boys' Club board president, will officially accept the building during the Sunday ceremonies.

Also taking part will be Dr. Philip Weltner, who will present the building; W. H. Murden, Whitehead club board president, who will give the welcome; Frank N. Wade, director of the Southern region of Boys' Clubs of America; club members Larry Owens, Freddy Coker and Jack L. Stephens Jr., and the Rev. Forrest L. King and the Rev. H. Park Tucker.

The Bell Ringers of St. Philip's Cathedral will give a concert before the dedication.

The club was organized by a group of Southwest citizens in 1946 to provide group club activities in arts, crafts and athletics. It became a branch of the Atlanta Boys' Club Inc. in 1948.

Whitehead, born in Chattanooga, was reared in Atlanta. He served in the Naval Intelligence Service from 1917 to 1920 and then took an active role in the family realty and holding companies. He died in 1935 at the age of 40 in Baltimore.

"LITTLE JEW
YOU DON'T BELONG HERE!"
With these words German school children taunted Peter Sumpf and drove him from school. The time? 1959, not 1939. In the new issue of LOOK Magazine learn how and why Peter's father was shot at, his mother beaten. Read LOOK's report: "Hitlerism in 1959: A Jew's Fate in Germany."
